Hissey & Barrington Make Report Complaints Over Sewerage Contract

Lengthy Session of Village
Council Held On Tuesday
Night — Bylaw 603 Passed

Members of Village Council laboured past the midnight hour on Tuesday to complete the meeting's agenda. Reeve J. V. Holt presided and was supported by Councillors W. J. Morton, C. Bateman, B. Jones and H. R. Tompkins.

Alva Christie interviewed Council concerning the installation of a septic tank at his residence on Elizabeth St. It was pointed out that the Ontario Water Resources Commission and Department of Health were unfavourable to having any source of contamination in the proximity of the Village well. Consequently the Village was reluctant to issue the necessary permit. The matter was discussed at length and the cost of laying a small pipe line from the property to the sewer manhole on Henry St. and the installation of a proper pump to pump the sewage will be investigated.

R. E. Fox, Fire Chief, tabled a group life and disability insurance plan for members of the Volunteer Fire Brigade, and after some discussion the matter was left over for further investigation.

The report of Police Chief D. Ketcheson was tabled and adopted on motion of Councillors Tompkins and Bateman.

Duncan Montgomery, building inspector, interviewed Council regarding an application for a car port. The consensus of Councillors was that the matter was one for his decision.

Sewerage Engineer

D. Hissey, representative of Hissey & Barrington, Consultant Engineers on the local sewerage system, listed a number of complaints regarding failure of the sewerage contractors to complete their work satisfactorily. He had investigated these instances and corrections would have to be made by the contractors or at their expense.

Regarding the sewer connection at Reeve J. V. Holt's residence he had investigated and found it non-existent. This was also the responsibility of the contractor. Of the connections made up to the present time, 10 had been found at the wrong elevation or out of line with specifications. These and others needing correction would be charged against the contractor.

The damaged wall at the residence of D. Ackers, John St., due to sewer operations, was also discussed at length. Mr. Hissey said the repair of the wall was definitely a responsibility of the Bonding Company for the Sherk Construction. Both his firm and the Ontario Water Resources Commission had been doing everything possible to get a settlement but up to the present their efforts had been fruitless.

Mr. Hissey also explained the method for making extensions to existing sewers under the Local Improvement Bylaw, but reminded Council that there were certain restrictions under the agreement with the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Engineer On Bridge Repairs

Grant Locke, consultant engineer on the Henry St. bridge also reported on the progress on this work. He stated that excavation for the north footing had been completed at a level somewhat higher than anticipated and the contractor was ready to pour concrete for the footing. The necessary materials were on the site.

L. Rawlings, Manager of the Bank of Montreal, addressed Council relative to a matter in connection with the recent school debture issue.

Correspondence was tabled from Arnott and Bateman; Bell Telephone, re cost of repairing broken cable on Front St.; Ontario Municipal Board, re approval of Debuture Bonds; Ontario Department of Highways, re Bylaw 603 controlling parking on Front St.; Salvation Army.

On motion of Councillors Tompkins and Bateman Bylaw No. 603 was given its final reading.

Canvas For Blind Nets $475.91

The recent canvas for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind netted $475.91, according to a report from Mrs. R. L. Hatton, who along with Mr. Hatton had charge of the local appeal. #### Tenders Accepted

A tender for snowplowing the Village streets this coming winter was tabled by H. E. Cooke, who stated he would purchase a new snow plow for the job.

For snow removal there were two tenders, one from H. E. Cooke and the other from Lindsay Silis, Stirling R.R. 2.

Following consideration by Council the tenders of H. E. Cooke for snow plowing and snow removal were accepted, on motion of Councillors Bateman and Jones.

Fuel Oil

Three tenders were tabled for supplying fuel oil to the Public Library, Community Hall and Fire Hall, from K. Sine, Moira Schuster and Hatton Hardware, with the tender of the latter being accepted by Council at 18.5c per gal. for furnace oil and 20.9c for stove oil.

Councillor H. R. Tompkins, chairman of the Property Committee, outlined the steps taken for the purchase of lands from Chas. Devollin and Chas. Vance for the construction of the new Development Road by the County from the eastern limits of the Village to James St. In the case of the Vance property an agreement had been reached but the description had not yet been received from the Land Surveyor's Office. Negotiations had been carried on with Mr. Devollin but no agreement had been reached on the value of the land.

After a lengthy discussion notice was given of the introduction of a bylaw to expropriate at next Council meeting.

The following accounts were passed for payment.

I.O.D.E. Banquet Commemorates Jubilee Anniversary of Order

Mrs. J. L. Cameron, First
Vice-President Speaker —
Over 150 In Attendance

"Loyalty, Responsibility and Tolerance are the three basics that keep the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, a great national patriotic organization, rolling along smoothly," stated Mrs. J. L. Cameron, 1st Vice-President of the organization, at the third annual district banquet sponsored by the Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter, Stirling, in the local Community Hall on Wednesday night last. The occasion marked the Jubilee Anniversary of the Order.

Loyalty to the Crown is set forth in the affirmation of the members. "I declare that I am a loyal subject of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, and will be governed by the Constitution of the Order."

Loyalty to Canada is portrayed as good citizens, interested in our community and giving leadership and loyalty to one another and to officers and leaders.

With Responsibility Goes Service

Continuing Mrs. Cameron said "with responsibility goes service. Unselfish service could be the motto of any primary Chapter. It has been said 'Service is the rent we pay for the privilege of living.' Responsibility is the willingness to assume a duty or task and see it through. Members should accept responsibility in their Chapter and in their community."

Be Tolerant

"We should practise tolerance," stated the speaker. "Let us live and let live. Let us take the trouble to inform ourselves of all sides of a problem. Don't be the man who says there are two answers to everything — his and the wrong one! Let us be tolerant to the newcomer to Canada. Back up the friendly hand and the friendly smile with true friendship which includes above all else understanding. We should practise tolerance to each other and to ourselves."

Tolerance teaches us:

To deliberate with caution but
To act with decision
To oppose with firmness but
To yield gracefully.

"With these things in mind may we go forward renewing our loyalty, remembering our responsibilities and exercising our tolerance. Above all let us uphold the concepts laid down by our founders that it may be well and truly said of the Independent Order Daughters of the Empire, 'they

Thieves Break Into School And Service Station

Thieves broke into the Stirling Public School and Tanner's Service Station late Thursday night or early Friday morning but apparently left empty handed.

Entry to the school was gained by breaking a window in the north entrance. Glass in the Principal's office door was also broken to gain access to this room. Papers were scattered about the various rooms as the intruders searched for money. The estimated damage to property was two hundred dollars.

At the Tanner's Service station glass was broken in the front door to gain access but nothing was taken. A stock of cigarettes was left untouched as apparently the intruders wanted money only.

Break-ins were also reported at Springbrook, Bonarlaw and Marmora schools, leading to the suspicion that a gang was making the rounds of the district.

The break-in at the school was discovered by the caretaker, C. Copeland when he arrived at the school early Friday morning. Chief Constable D. Ketcheson and O.P.P. Constable Don Byers, fingerprint expert, investigated the crime.

86th Anniversary Bethel United

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

On Sunday, October 23rd Bethel United Church commemorated its 86th anniversary.

The church pedestals were filled with variegated dahlias and other autumn blooms. There was a large attendance of worshippers from Stirling, Campbellford, Salem, Wellman's, Mount Pleasant and other points, at both services.

The Rev. Kingsley J. Joblin, West Metropolitan Toronto, was the guest minister at the morning service. This was his first visit to Bethel in 31 years. Kingsley's parents occupied Rawdon parsonage when he was a young man and he spoke reminiscently of the vacation periods which he had spent assisting a near-by farmer. He also brought greetings from his father the Rev. Fred G. Joblin, Port Perry, who was unable to attend this special service.

Mr. Joblin based his message on the theme "Open Skies." He reviewed the passage found in Genesis 28 of the vision which appeared to Jacob where the angels of God were ascending and descending on a ladder set up on the earth and the top of the ladder reached to Heaven. Here God promised a great blessing to Jacob as he was sleeping and when he awoke he was sure that this was the gate to Heaven. The climax to this promise is found in the first chapter of John when Jesus promised Nathaniel that he would see Heaven opened and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man. The speaker stressed the necessity of a renewal of faith in this generation and truly a heavenly vision is needed now as well as in those early Christian days.

Mr. Joblin urged the young people to choose a vocation for full-time work in the church. Each generation should produce someone who will carry on God's work, as the divine purpose of the church is to point others to God.

The pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., assisted with the service and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Harold Elliott, A.T.C.M., presided at the piano. She chose as prelude, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," by Larson; for the offertory, "Andante Cantabile," by Herselt; and for the postlude "March of the Prophets," by Stickles. The full choir rendered "Lord of the Hills," by Nottle, with Miss Donald Heath taking the solo part and the quartet was given by Messrs. Ronald Heath, Grant Richardson, Wayne Hadley and Allen Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson gave a duet, "The Saviour for Me," by Runyan, and Mr. Richardson contributed a baritone solo "Outside the Gates of Paradise."

The service opened with psalter hymn, based on "His Blessings" and followed with "O God of Bethel."

Dedication of Altar Set

A beautiful altar set comprised of a wooden cross with church symbols, and flanked by matching holders with long white tapers was presented to Bethel Church by Mr. John Marsh, of England, in memory of his wife, who died in a London hospital last year. His daughter, Mrs. John Mulhern, a member of Bethel United Church, lit the tapers and the pastor was in charge of the dedication ceremony.

The ushers were Messrs. Walter Warren and William Heath, and about $300 was placed on the plates at the two services. The morning service closed on the theme, "O Jesus I Have Promised to Serve Thee to the End, O Give Me Grace to Follow My Master and My Friend."

Evening Service

The Rev. Harry M. Davis, B.A., pastor of Bridge St. United Church, Belleville, and chairman of the Belleville Presbytery, was the guest speaker in the evening. He chose as his theme, "A Religion that Works," based on the words of James when he greeted the 12 tribes and stressed that, "Every good endowment and every perfect gift is from above, and he outlined the plane of practical Christianity. Everyone should be doers of the Word and not hearers, only. Mr. Davis stressed the words of Mark, of the first commandment, Forty members of the Stirling High School choir, under the direction of Mr. E. C. Hay-Ellie, with Mr. Harold Sarles as accompanist, rendered, "How Great Thou Art" and "My God and I," Seriel.

Mrs. Harold Elliott chose for a prelude a selection by Herselt, and for the offering, "A Meditation," by Schuman, and as a closing postlude, "Abide with Me," by Monk.

There was an overflow attendance of worshippers and the church hall was used. The opening congregational hymn was that old favourite, "Lead On, O King Eternal," and the second hymn complemented the sermon, "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee."

The anniversary messages, in both song and sermons were inspirational and closed on the theme, "Lift High the Cross of Christ."

Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson and Mrs. Carleton Potts assisted the Bethel choir.

Carl Reid Writes of Life At Frobisher Bay, Baffin Island

Following is the first part of an article written by Carl Reid, who with Mrs. Reid and daughters, left August 31st for Baffin Island, Northwest Territories. The second and final part will be published in next week's issue. Mr. Reid is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Reid, Stirling, R.R. 4, and is well-known throughout this district.

Department of Northern Affairs,
Apartment 90-3
Frobisher Bay, N.W.T.
October 10th, 1960.

We left Stirling late Wednesday afternoon, August 31st, 1960, by Chambers' taxi for Belleville in order to board the Ottawa train by 7:13. We chose parlor car accommodation to provide for Susan's car bed in the carpeted area around the seats. She slept frequently but Judy couldn't settle amid all the new and interesting surroundings. She peered at cows and horses until darkness closed in then concentrated on conversing with a dozen passengers and even the trainman as he passed through.

After being jerked around the shunting yard in Brockville for thirty minutes, we were swaying along the tracks to Ottawa. Beverley's parents met us at the Union Station and took us with our eight suitcases to their home.

I had to report at the Department of Northern Affairs office on Thursday but there was no work to be done so eleven of us teachers were huddled into an office. Had we been dismissed to shop or even sleep we would have suffered a pay reduction.

On Friday morning we boarded the Montreal flyer and wrestled two active children from Ottawa to Lachine, P.Q., where we had been advised previously to depart. The train made two stops at this little "western" town. When our luggage was set off the engineer pulled out for Montreal. The conductor had to pull the emergency cord so we could depart at the same place as our baggage. For a moment after the train had gone from sight we felt as if we had been abandoned in the middle of nowhere. The station agent wouldn't tell us where we could summon a taxi and no cab was in sight. At the telephone booth I discovered a card advertising Laurie's Taxi, and upon calling his number learned that he was still in business. After a detailed description (in his broken English and my 'split level' French) of where we were lost he assured us he could find us and promised he'd be there in ten minutes. When he arrived we assembled the car bed in the back seat so Beverley could relax her bundle and rest her arms. My duty was to confine Judy within the doors of the front seat away from the auto controls. We drove up the siding to where our baggage had previously been set off and practised puzzle placing these bags in order to get them all in the trunk in such a fashion that the lid would close. Three miles and about three minutes later we screeched to an abrupt stop in front of the Nordair wicket at Dorval Airport.

Two attendants, eager to glean from the bewildered travellers wrestled our luggage from the taxi trunk into the checking counter and then stood patiently in our way until we tipped them. After unloading my arms and retrieving a diaper bag which had gone past the baggage counter almost to the plane, I opened my wallet but discovered I had no change. Beverley assured me she had some but the attendant's radiant gleam changed to a smile 'especially rehearsed for cheapskates' when he learned that Beverley's total amount of silver amounted to 25c. He thanked us dryly and left us to decide how we could use five hours until plane time.

Wrestling children, fighting off fake charity salesman and standing in line for overcrowded lavatories soon utilized the time till noon. We chose a lovely dining room table on the second floor and spent nearly an hour and a half here eating and resting. The food was excellent but we spent all the time we dared in order to have seats on the plane. When we left the dining room I scooped up the car bed under one arm leaving the other to lead Judy in her harness, and attempted to descend the stairs. This posed a great problem for Judy didn't want to go down and I couldn't set Susan down because of upcoming traffic and Beverley stood helplessly behind me laden with a suitcase of diapers, a diaper bag and a purse. A U.S. pilot saw my predicament so he carried Judy down stairs for me. We wriggled through the crowds of the TCA lobby and the reinforced barrage of fake salesmen to the quiet of the Nordair lobby. The remaining two hours was endured with only a minor incident which involved an argument between a floor cleaner and myself. He persisted in cleaning each corner twice and when he wasn't asking me to move from a row of seats he was coaxing me to set the car bed on some spot which he hadn't yet polished.

In the lobby were two families with children among the 29 passengers enroute to Frobisher Bay, so we were escorted into the plane first. We chose the front seats on the starboard side of the DC4 so we had extra space by the cargo for our car bed. The take-off and aerial scenery were fascinating for us since none of us had flown before. The stewardess was very efficient and especially kind to us. She catered to the children with candies, gum, tissues and even disposable diapers. All of us were served a hot chicken dinner complete with vegetables, rolls, dessert and even a beverage.

Eight hours and 1,305 miles later we saw the welcome lights of Frobisher Bay. The plane landed beautifully then taxied about half way to the terminal waiting room and restaurant. A construction company was in the process of paving an approach area to the hangar but at this point we had to walk about a hundred yards and hurdle a windrow of mulching about every thirty feet. I haven't yet decided whether this athletic challenge or the freezing temperature with a 30 m.p.h. wind across the runway was more disturbing to our southern way of living. Now we knew why many passengers had carried parkas over their shoulders before leaving Montreal. Another passenger and I smothered the children in blankets and rushed them into the confines of the waiting room. Here we stared at each other until all baggage was delivered. Fifteen of the twenty-nine passengers were D.N.A. personnel and had to be accommodated in apartments. Prior to being billeted we were given hot coffee and cookies at the home of the Frobisher Bay Home Economist, Joyce MacKinnon. I'm afraid we disappointed her for we were too tired and too well stuffed from the plane ride to eat many cookies.

The Inspector of Schools, Gordon Devitt and his assistant, Bob Hanna, went into transient quarters constructed especially for the housing VIP's between flights while we thirteen were settled in four new completely furnished apartments. These were constructed for office personnel who hadn't yet arrived, so we had all the comforts of home including an oil furnace and even a complete kitchen — but of course no food.

The next morning we bundled the children and walked half a mile to the air terminal restaurant for breakfast. While there, we learned that a stratospheric condition of sun spots prohibited any radio contact with our respective posts so all of us would be temporarily grounded at Frobisher.

We couldn't feature bundling two children for this mile meal trip three times a day and through drizzling rain and we couldn't buy food from the Hudson's Bay Post because of the Labour Day week-end, so we accepted an offer of loaned food until the store opened. We were able to borrow an issue of dishes and kitchen utensils from a Frobisher teacher who had not yet moved into her own apartment, so we immediately set up housekeeping.

By Sunday the children had rested out and were acting human so we had time to walk about Frobisher with our camera in the heat of mid-day (in the high 40's).

Frobisher settlement is in three sections. Air base, consisting of Department of Transport, Carter Construction, C. A. Pitts Construction, United States military establishments — S.A.C., U.S.A.F., U.S.N., and a Radar Centre, Department of Northern Affairs, and Indian and Northern Health Services. Akuluti (Eskimo for Frobisher), is situated a half mile east of the Air Base along the coast. This native settlement has moved since they are employed by the above. These people are living in a generation of transition. Very few of them have husky dogs and fewer of them hunt from the sea. Those who are not employed by the white man live on relief. A crooked dirt road leads over the hills and three miles away is the other settlement called Apex Hill which has been inhabited for many years before the air base. It houses part of the D.N.A. storehouses, warehouses and a garage, a 3 room school and an I.O.D.E. hall, a Rehabilitation Centre for all of Baffin Island, about a hundred white people and two hundred Eskimos.

The original Frobisher Bay was established in 1918 on the north shore of the Bay at Ward Inlet about 40 miles S.E. from here. An air base is at the most inland point of the Bay and as the settlement grew many Eskimos moved from Frobisher Bay to Apex Hill just east of the air base. Even the Hudson Bay Company in 1945 had to move here to accommodate its customers so the original Frobisher Bay post and settlement is a ghost town. Occasionally some of the few remaining hunters use its buildings as an overnight windbreak while they are on a hunting trip. In 1957 the Hudson Bay Co. established a commissary to accommodate the needs of the contract personnel who were employed here as constructors. Apex Hill was to be the new town site of Frobisher Bay but it had expanded to the hills on all three sides so the balance of this incoming population had to be housed at the air base. Consequently there are about 35 commuters from air base to Apex Hill and 12 commuters the opposite direction every day. Even now a new residential area is being probed by rock drillers for an expansive town site in the near future. The present buildings at the air base are sturdy "Butler" structures even though they are called temporary buildings but their proximity to the air strip necessitates a permanent town site elsewhere. A hill of metamorphic rock must be blasted flat for the town site for there is no place large enough or level enough to accommodate the population.

D.N.A. stores are extensive because Regional Administrator, Frank DeLoutte, assists all the settlements on Baffin Island with Frobisher Bay as his headquarters. These buildings house all supplies for D.N.A. from rations to parts for heavy equipment. All incidental foods and personal effects must be bought from the Hudson Bay store or sent in by boat or air cargo.

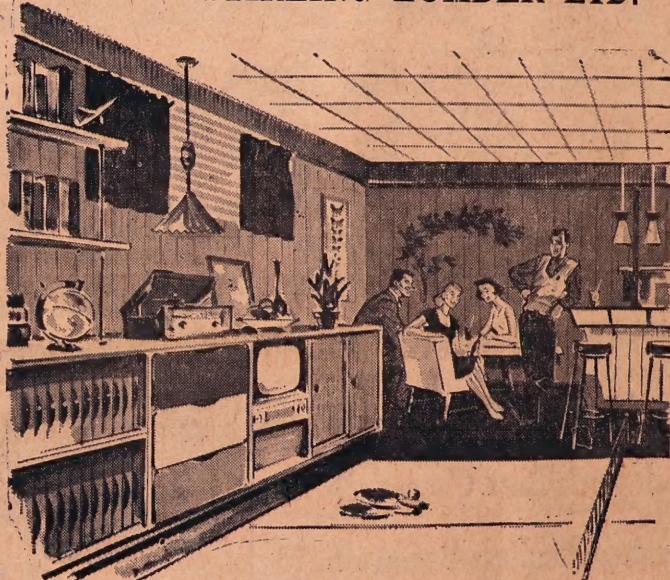

Because of shipping and handling costs the price of retail goods seems to be highly inflated. Butter sells at $1.05 a pound, eggs $1.35 per dozen, bread 35c per loaf, and an ordinary hot dinner is $3.50. Clothing is as reasonable as Ottawa and such items as duffle socks, seal skin coats, parkas, kamiks, mukluks are much cheaper. A seal skin jacket can be bought here for $45.00. At Ottawa it would cost $125.00.

Other luxuries such as cigarettes sell for $3.75 per carton, but USAF personnel may purchase them from their own PX at 15c per package.

R.V. Girls' Club

The second meeting of the River Valley 4-H Girls' Club, "Working with Wool," was held in the River Valley School on Wednesday evening, October 19th, at 7:30 p.m.

The special guest for the evening was Miss Julia Lane, Home Economist for Hastings County.

Roll call "show a sample of material and tell why you think it is wool?" was answered by the seven members present.

It was decided to call the club the "River Valley Sew and Sew's."

Miss Lane gave a thorough demonstration on what styles of clothes look best on the different figures.

The proper ways of pressing and shrinking were demonstrated and each member was required to do such for their Home Economist.

Third Meeting
The third meeting was held on Wednesday, October 26th.

Roll call was "One kind of material and its weave," was answered by the eight members present.

Mrs. Heasman explained thoroughly what was meant by the term "grain" in materials and gave the names of the different grains.

In group work the members who had their material, laid their pattern and made any alterations which were necessary to make sure of a perfect fit. The rest of the members watched and learned the correct way.

Miss Beverley Petherick, President of the Junior Red Cross, presided over a short programme consisting of several songs and a variety of interesting Halloween games and contests.

The Judges, Mesdames Stanley Kerr, John Petherick and Albert Tinney, found it most difficult to choose the winners, as the children marched around the prettily decorated school room. The best dressed boy was Brian Burkitt, as a tramp; best dressed girl, Betty Lou Barnum, as a fairy; best dressed comic, Bobby Brunton, as an old lady with very ill-fitting teeth.

The students served a delicious lunch, after which Mrs. Albert Tinney moved a vote of thanks. Mrs. Sharp replied, stating that she was pleased to have met most of the mothers.

The children are to be congratulated on the manner in which they carried out their duties, supervising the games, serving lunch, etc., evidence of a well organized afternoon.

and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Jones.

Halloween seems to start early for some people. On Friday evening the pupils of the 9th Line School held a concert at the school. Later that night some persons as yet unknown were heard lurking around some of the 9th Line homes. On Saturday night they were around again, damaging property, upsetting outside plumbing, fences, etc. The Union School was broken into and the water pump broken. Police are investigating.

Several school-age tramps, ghosts etc. visited us on Monday night, but these were orderly and respectful.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Reid and George and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heath and Carol were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mumby and family.

Agnes McKeown has returned home from Ottawa Fair where she won the Reserved Championship prize on her pair of Yorkshire Glits. Glits belonging to Agnes and her brother Paul were also in second place in the Hastings County Unit in the County showing. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson and Andy, 12th Line, called on his brother, Clarence, his wife and family, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wally Jackson and Allison, of Oshawa, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petherick. Mrs. Jackson and Allison remained for a few days.

LAMB ROASTS

Canadian lamb is available throughout the year, but right now it is most plentiful and reasonably priced. Here's a meat that's tender, juicy and distinctively flavoured — a real family or party treat!

Lamb Facts

The meat of lamb is firm, fine grained, smooth and velvety. The colour of the meat varies from a light to dark pink. The fat of lamb is firm, smooth, soft, creamy white or slightly pink in colour. The "fell" is a thin, paper-like covering of lamb which is not necessary to remove before cooking.

Lamb Cuts

For Roasting

One of the favourite cuts is the leg of lamb which may be divided into the shank and butt. The shank is the lower part of the leg; the butt is the upper and thicker part of the leg containing the large hip bone which makes it slightly harder to carve than the shank. Shoulder roasts may also be divided into two cuts: blade shoulder roasts and round shoulder roasts. Sometimes it is possible to buy a rolled shoulder roast which is one complete shoulder with all bones removed. This roast may be stuffed. Loin roasts of lamb are of two types also. The loin roast taken from the rib end contains the rib bones and is easily recognized. The leg-end loin contains the T-bones and tenderloin muscle. Both loin roasts are usually cut into chops. In self-service shops, the label on the wrapper of the meat usually tells which cut it contains.

Lamb enough for all the family if 1-4 to 1-3 of a pound per serving is allowed for boneless roasts; 1-3 to 1-2 pound per serving for bone-in roasts. Allow enough for second servings and for cold cuts.

Lamb Storage

Fresh lamb roasts may be stored in the refrigerator for 2 or 3 days before cooking. Remove all wrapping — wipe with a damp cloth, place on a dry plate and cover loosely with wax paper. Cooked roasts may be kept under refrigeration up to four days. The cooked meat should be cooled first, then covered tightly.

Lamb Roasting

Most cuts of lamb are tender enough for roasting. Cook the roast fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Cook in a moderately slow oven (325 degs. F.) to the well done stage, that is 150 degs. F. on a meat thermometer. Lamb roasts should be served very hot or cold.

Lamb's best seasoned before cooking. Sprinkle or rub into the surface of the meat, thyme, mint, marjoram, rosemary, ginger or dry mustard.

Lamb's best served with mint sauce, cranberry or grape sauce, or gravy.

Lamb's best garnished with broiled peaches or pear halves; broiled tomatoes or mushrooms.

Lamb's best accompanied by late fall vegetables like potatoes, squash, onions, carrots and cauliflower.

TENDING STORE

It happens that I have quite a few friends who are in the general store business in small towns, so some of the illusions I had about storekeepers have been dispelled.

When I was a boy, I envied Mr. Cochrane who owned the big general store in Manitou. I thought his life was perfect. Any time he wished, he could have a chocolate bar; or he could slice delicious slivers from the huge round cheese always on the counter. All day long people came in and gave him money for groceries; or else brought eggs and butter from the farms, trading them for manufactured or processed goods from his shelves.

His store was a wonderful place. He used to pay me $4 per week to deliver groceries after school and to help out behind the counter. I would have worked for free — the place always smelled so nice, and he had given me the freedom of the candy case (he almost wished he hadn't because I came close to disproving his theory that boys soon tire of chocolates if they can have all they want), and I got to meet all the people who came in to shop and chat.

And I was taken into the secret about those markings on the goods. If you knew the signs, you could tell what markup had been added to what the groceries cost in the first place. In some cases, it was quite high, and I was sure that Mr. Cochrane was coining millions of dollars!

Alas and alackaday, storekeeping, when you get to know the details, isn't an easy road to riches. Markup is a long way from being profit, and those groceries don't get on the shelves by themselves. Profits range from two cents to four cents on the dollar of sales — and a few unpaid accounts or unhappy purchases can turn those slim profits into fat losses. And when my friends have a bad month, no one comes to help them with deficiency payments, disaster funds, or anything else. They are on their own. The only time anyone from the government shows an interest in them is at income tax time, or to make sure they are paying proper wages and giving

Carl Reid Writes of Frobisher Bay

Beer sells at $4.00 — and an N.W.T. permit fee of $1.00 per case; but is sold in the "Rustic Room" at 60¢ a pint. This beverage room is designed to make one forget the bleak areas of Baffin and recall rural lights of the south. It has indirect lighting, quiet music, but a hidden atmosphere and furnishings like an 1898 "pub" in the Klondike.

When Canadian or Eskimo guests are invited to USAF mess halls their beer or cocktails are only 25¢, but they are not allowed to buy cigarettes.

At ship time this year D.N.A. alone expect 1500 tons of cargo. In this are two new heavy water trucks and a bus as well as 351 rations. Each ration weighs 1500 to 1700 pounds and is packed to feed two people for one year. According to the present D.N.A. population about 75 rations will be excess but will later be flown to some neighbouring settlements after freeze up.

C. A. Pitts Construction Co. had 483 men employed here last year. They were contracted by "Uncle Sam" to build Strategic Air Command buildings here, and at Resolution Bay and Brewart. The most extensive of the three is here because USAF personnel and defence equipment will be increased this year. A power house, 2 hangars, a garage and SAC building cost $60 million. The same structures could be erected in continental USA for one half this amount.

Carter Construction has spent nearly two years levelling, grading and paving a long run way, two plane parking areas, and two approach lanes from the control tower terminal building to the runway.

Eastern Canada Stevedoring from Montreal have temporary huts here for 60 men who spend every summer loading and unloading ships. The majority of the cargo ships anchor here in the fall prior to the long winter so Montreal sends an additional 150 stevedores to deliver the cargo. These men work nine hours then sleep three while the tide is out then return for nine again as the tide starts to flow.

The Frobisher crew of Carter Construction are moving to Moosonee to build an air strip. C. A. Pitts are returning to Montreal on the supply ships and then the stevedores will leave until next June, so when winter closes in the total population will be U.S. defence, Canadian civil servants and Dept. of Transport radio men and the 800 Eskimos.

Frobisher has a theatre (2 movies per week), a dry cleaning plant, a sewing centre, an arts and crafts store, a bake shop and dining room, and a barber shop. These are all operated by D.N.A. Rehabilitation Centre, but as soon as the Eskimo employees prove they can operate these businesses Rehab will cease administration of the business.

Any one, for a fee of $100 can set up his own business. Apart from the Rustic Room there is a taxi business, honest weight!

So my illusions are dispelled — and yet, I think I'd like to be a storekeeper. Dreams die hard!

and a hotel which are all owned and operated by East Coast Carriers. The taxi fee is $1.00 per person with a minimum of $3.00 per trip. The hotel was a barracks building but this firm cut each room in the centre with a partition and rent these "closets" at $20.00 per day.

Indian and Northern Health Services operate a twelve bed hospital at the air base and a nursing station at Apex Hill. I.N.H.S. employ a staff of two doctors and seven nurses. Either of these doctors may be called to the airport at any time to be flown to an emergency call out of Frobisher.

Frobisher is the hub of the Eastern Arctic so the D.N.A. offices include Regional Directors as well as local advisors for administration, social work, welfare, engineering, public relations and rehabilitation for Eskimos who have returned from hospitals in the south. The handicapped are permanently employed while the others are re-adjusted to northern life and livelihood.

Salem W.A.

The regular meeting of Salem W.A. was held in the Church Hall on October 13th at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Lorne Hagerman as hostess.

The President, Mrs. Mel Wickens, welcomed all and opened the meeting in the usual manner, with all singing the theme song and repeating the theme prayer. Hymn 199 was sung. Roll call showed 16 members and several visitors present.

Business discussion followed. An invitation was received from White Lake to attend their annual bazaar. Final plans were made for an afternoon tea and bake sale.

Mrs. Frank McGee, convener of the programme committee, took charge of the meeting. Hymn 577 was sung. The devotion was conducted by Mrs. Albert Twiddy who read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Ivan Sables read the meditation and Mrs. J. B. Hagerman offered prayer. A reading, "Be Thankful Unto Him," was given by Mrs. Lorne Hagerman. Mrs. Harold Holden read, "Thanksgiving" and Mrs. Frank McGee "A Button Box." Mrs. Jackson thanked all who had made the evening a success. The meeting was closed by singing hymn 385 and repeating the benediction. A social hour followed.

Penny — Russett Nuptials At St. John's

A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 15th at 2:00 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, when the Reverend Russett, to Daniel Henry Penny, of Elizabeth Russett, of Harold R.R. 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russett, to Daniel Henry Penny, of Oshawa, son of Mr. Edward Penny and the late Mrs. Penny. White mums and shasta daisies adorned the altar and white satin bows the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length bridal gown of white net over taffeta, fashioned with smoothly molded bodice featuring a scalloped neckline and long, lily-point sleeves accented by a row of tiny buttons at the wrists. She wore a shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, deeply embroidered and designed at the back, draped to form a headress trimmed with simulated pearls and sequins. Her bouquet was of mauve orchids mingled with white shasta daisies, in cascade style.

Mrs. Clifford Beaudrie, of Foxboro, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a street-length gown of beige brocade taffeta with cummerbund and large bouffant back bow; matching gauntlets and hat.

Mrs. Lloyd Yakeley, of Goodwood, Ont., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Eleanna Edwards, of Bonarlaw, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids, were gowned in olive-green brocade taffeta, made similarly to that of the matron of honor. All wore plastic slippers, with rhinestone trim, and carried bouquets of yellow and bronze mums.

Mr. Lloyd Yakeley, of Goodwood R.R. 1, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Gerald Russett, of Harold R.R. 2, and Mr. Richard Bradimore, of Oshawa, were ushers.

The reception was held in the church parish hall, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing navy crepe trimmed with matching satin and white accessories. She wore a talisman rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to Peterboro, North Bay, Sudbury, Whitney, Pembroke, Fort Coulonge, Que., and Ottawa, and Kingston, the bride wore a wool plaid suit with brown and white accessories and corsage of bronze and yellow mums.

Guests attended from Pembroke, Arnprior, Renfrew, Bancroft, Bonarlaw, Newtonville, Stirling, Belleville, Oshawa, Goodwood and Uxbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Penny will reside at 55 Arlington Avenue, Oshawa.

Red and White Expansion Plans

Red & White will be scoring a "first" during the next few weeks. Plans are complete for the first truly national sale of a major manufacturer's products at one time from coast-to-coast in Canada. This has never before been attempted by any food distributor.

This is the first direct result of Red & White's programme of closer co-operation within its widespread Canadian organization.

Red & White's Canadian headquarters reports that its affiliated wholesale grocers operate from Newfoundland to British Columbia with all territories completely enfranchised.

Future plans for the Canadian organization call for closer integration of merchandising activity among its seven enfranchised wholesale grocers. In addition, the Board of Directors of Red & White Corporation, Chicago, have announced plans for reorganization.

tion in the United States aimed at greatly expanding Red & White's activities there.

The Canadian Red & White organization, while affiliated with the American company, operates as a completely separate entity.

Highway 401 Extensions

Hon. Fred M. Cass, Q.C., Minister of Highways, announced on June 27, 1960, that Highway 401 between Newcastle and Port Hope would be open for traffic on June 30, 1960. Official opening ceremonies will be held when the section, now under construction, between Port Hope and Brighton is completed in the summer of 1961. The new section of dual-lane, controlled-access highway, 18 miles in length, provides a through route from Port Hope, on the east, to Highway 25 near Milton, on the west, a distance of 90 miles.

The north lane of Highway 401 from the junction of Highway 2, west of Brockville, to Prescott was opened to traffic on September 18, 1960, providing a four-lane controlled-access highway between these points. The south lane was officially opened last November and used as a two-lane highway while the north lane was being constructed. This was done to take full advantage of the new section at the earliest possible date.

The Boss and The Leader

Are you a boss or a leader of men? There's a difference. H. Gordon Selridge, a successful merchant of London makes this distinction:

"The boss drives his men; the leader coaches them."

"The boss depends upon authority; the leader on good will."

"The boss inspires fear; the leader inspires enthusiasm."

"The boss says, 'I'; the leader says 'We'."

"The boss fixes the blame for the breakdown; the leader fixes the breakdown."

"The boss knows how it is done; the leader shows how."

"The boss says, 'Go'; the leader says 'Let's go'."

"When the job is done, the boss boasts of his accomplishments; the leader praises his men for their skill, loyalty and sacrifice that made success possible."

Which type of person are you — one who drives and demands or one who coaches and leads the way? There's a difference; a big difference.

Cooking Comments

Store eggs with the large end up, in a covered container in the refrigerator, and they will be less likely to absorb odours and to lose moisture, advises the Information Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Water in which vegetables have been cooked should be saved and used in soups or gravies because it contains valuable minerals and vitamins, reports the Information Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Many cooking practices have changed in the last few years and the modern homemaker should accept as a daily challenge the admonition of the Information Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, to "cook it right".

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

MULCH ORCHARDS AFTER FALL RAINS

Now is the time to mulch orchards, suggests Bob Wilcox, fruit specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The organic matter that a mulch adds to the soil helps to prevent it from drying out, and in the case of clay soils, from cracking. Mulches also prevent hot dry winds from drying the soil.

Just about any mulch will work. "Weeds, straw, hay, shavings, sawdust, and all kinds of manure will do the same job," says Wilcox.

"A ton of hay or straw will make as good a mulch job as 3 tons of manure," he says. "In place of 10 tons of manure you could use 3 tons of hay or straw."

Keep these two risks in mind if you mulch this fall: Fire and mice.

"Signs with 'No Smoking' next to highways will help prevent fires," says Wilcox. "Keep mulches at least two feet away from the trunks of the fruit trees to help prevent mice from girdling them."

OPEN-FRONT HOG BUILDINGS HAVE PROBLEMS SAYS ENGINEER

Perhaps too many people adopted open-front hog barns before enough was known about them. They looked exciting.

Costs were low. No insulation or ventilation was required. Large numbers of hogs could be grown and finished together with a minimum of labour. Complete mechanization of both feeding and manure removal was easy. Some farmers reported handling 500 hogs a month in these barns and spent less than two hours a day doing it.

Bruce County Agricultural engineer H. E. Bellman feels the splurge on the "dream" building may be ending. Some of the larger building companies will build you an open-front barn to your recommendations but they won't like it, reports the Ontario Department of Agriculture engineer. It appears the buildings have some disadvantages.

"A lot of farmers have trouble with the snow blowing in and plugging up the outside exercise yard," says Bellman. "Most farmers, with the possible exception of those living in southwestern Ontario, felt this was the biggest single problem. And poorer feed conversion is showing up too."

"Research by the U.S.D.A. shows that the most efficient production in hogs is obtained when the environmental temperature is between 45 and 60 degrees. This is good proof that some investment is needed in an enclosed, well-insulated and mechanically-ventilated hog barn. There should be less trouble with sickness and disease too."

The agricultural engineer says "we've got to keep feed costs in mind. They run about 70 percent of the cost of growing and finishing a hog. Building and labour costs are less than 15 percent. It makes sense, then, he says, to spend a little extra on a building and pay for it in better feed conversion. This advantage should continue even though pigs endure severe winter for only 3 months of the year.

He states that the agricultural engineer's newer plans for closed-in hog feeding barns incorporate many of the cost and labour savings of the open-front barns.

WATCH FOR VIBRIOSIS IN YOUR DAIRY HERD

Dairy experts estimate that, outside of mastitis, more dairy cows have been sold for slaughter because of inability to reproduce than for any other reason.

Vibriosis is one of the worst trouble-makers. No one knew much about it until 1954, but Dr. Howard Neely, an extension officer with the Ontario Veterinary College, says: "It's one of the main causes of infertility and also causes abortion."

The disease follows this pattern: When vibriosis is first introduced into a herd, a farmer will first notice a lot of his cows becoming "difficult breeders." As the disease progresses through the herd, only the young cattle become difficult breeders; the older ones become immune.

"It's a true venereal disease," says Dr. Neely. "It is spread by the bull but the bull won't show any obvious symptoms. Many of the cows with vibriosis that he covers will conceive and later abort. But often the farmer will only suspect that they have delayed heat periods and that they must be rebred."

Controls? Artificial insemination seems to be the best answer. There has never been a herd infected with vibriosis that was involved 100 percent in A.I., says the veterinarian.

"To prevent vibriosis in his herd a farmer should only buy a bull subject to a health examination," he suggests. "If the bull you are using has the disease, switch to A.I. for six months, then switch back to the bull."

Veterinarians can now use drugs to clean up any infected bulls or cows.

NEW OAT VARIETY

A new oat variety, Russell, was released this year.

In tests made in Ontario during the past four years, Russell generally outyielded the recommended varieties in all areas except the northern part of the province, reports Dr. F. J. Zillinsky, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Russell is similar to Garry in its resistance to stem rust, crown rust, smut and other diseases and is more tolerant of septoria leaf blotch and black stem than the currently grown varieties. It has a larger kernel and a lower percentage of hull than Garry. It has shorter straw and ripens about the same time.

Seed treatment for seed-borne diseases is recommended, just as it is with other varieties of oats.

While Russell has stimulated interest in other provinces, Dr. Zillinsky feels it is best suited to the medium and lighter soils of Ontario.

It's the rich man who doesn't hesitate to ask the store clerk to show him something cheaper.

HOG CARCASS WEIGHT, FAT, ARE BONUS CLUES

"Just a little extra attention to hog weights on the part of producers would return dividends."

That's the conclusion of Elgin Senn, chief of the grading section, Livestock Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, after analysing the results of a nation-wide survey of hog carcass grades.

It showed that 23.5 percent of grade B carcasses were either a little too light or a shade too heavy to meet grade A requirements.

This fault will hit a hog producer's pocketbook even harder now that a $3 quality premium is being paid on grade A carcasses and none on grade B carcasses.

Mr. Senn estimated that on a 160-pound carcass, the cash difference between the two grades would be $4.60.

To measure up to grade A standards, the carcass must tip the scales between 135 and 170 pounds.

The survey pointed out the fact that 13.6 percent of all grade B carcasses weighed between 171 and 180 pounds, and 9.7 percent between 125 and 134 pounds.

Saskatchewan hog carcasses were the most numerous in this respect, with 17.2 percent of the grade B's being between 171 and 180 pounds and 14.2 percent between 125 and 134 pounds.

Some Faults

"Overfinish" — too much fat — is a leading fault in grade B carcasses and has been stressed as such for many years, according to Mr. Senn. Actually, 89.9 percent of the carcasses in this grade were reported to be overfinished.

Another 17 percent were "off-type" — too short, round-ribbed, or with heavy front ends.

An encouraging downward trend was indicated in the number of grade B carcasses with a pigment fault — colored hairs. The percentage in Eastern Canada totalled 1.7 and the percentage in Western Canada was 3.6. Just six years ago, these figures were 10.3 percent for Western Canada and 5.9 percent for the East.

Concludes Mr. Senn: "Producers who pay a little closer attention to the market weight of their hogs will find it pays."

Timely Tips

Buying calves this fall? Maybe you can use this idea of 4-H club members in Bruce County: feed the calves only silage and hay to put on 1-1 1/2 pounds gain through the winter, then put the calves on grass until the middle of July, then grain on grass 'till they're marketed in October. Grain will have to be fed through the winter if the hay or silage quality is poor.

Make sure that fertilizer drills are carefully cleaned out before you store them, suggests engineers with the Ontario Agricultural College. Fertilizer draws moisture to itself and moisture means rust to unprotected metal surfaces.

Laying down tile this fall? Don't buy rejected or damaged tile. It's false economy, warns Hank Bellman, extension engineer with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. He suggests you look over every tile closely before laying it. If only a few crumbles in a tile system, it could make a tile drainage system useless.

The first fall frosts have cut down the fly population, so why not think about dehorning those calves now. Get the job done before winter sets in. If your calves are valuable, contact your veterinarian about injecting a tetanus antitoxin, suggests Howard Neely, extension veterinarian at the O.V.C. Give it just before you dehorn. It will prevent lockjaw.

A reflector above each light bulb will supply more light to the hens, says Earl Hunt, poultry extension fieldman, O.A.C. Use about 60 watts of light for each 200 square feet of floor space. Provide a minimum of 14 hours of light daily.

BATS HARMLESS, USEFUL

Bothered by bats? Bats often establish colonies in attics and walls of dwellings in rural areas and become a nuisance.

But, advises the Canada Department of Agriculture's Research Branch, bats are harmless and useful creatures that feed exclusively on night-flying insects, many of which are destructive pests.

Get rid of the bats, say the researchers, but don't destroy them.

An effective repellent is two to five pounds of naphthalene flakes scattered in spaces occupied by bats. If applied during warm weather, reports claim, this will prompt bats to leave — even in daylight. They will stay away as long as the naphthalene odor persists.

After the bats have been evicted, all openings three-quarters of an inch or more in width, such as small crevices around the eaves and at the bases of rafters, should be filled. Cracks at the base of the chimney should be filled with cement.

If these openings are not closed after the bats have been driven out, the supply of naphthalene must be renewed periodically to prevent their return.

Fumigation will kill bats, although use of poison gas is recommended only as a last resort. Hydrocyanic acid gas, although highly effective, is also extremely poisonous to human beings and should be applied only by a licensed fumigator.

Birds Have Sharp Eyes

Many a fisherman, cleaning his lunch fish on the bank of a lake or river with nary a bird in sight, has marvelled that, the moment he got busy with a knife, birds of various kinds, particularly seagulls, appeared out of nowhere. The same thing applies to bird feeders who, during the winter months, have seen everything from chickadees to cardinals appear as soon as the feeding boxes have been replenished.

The explanation is simple, according to conservation officers of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. A bird's eyesight is generally sharper and capable of reaching farther than that of any other animal. Flying even at high speed, birds can focus almost immediately. The eye structure of the bird differs from other animals in having a third membrane. This keeps the eyeball moist and serves as a sun shade in strong light, decreasing but not preventing light entering the eye. In dull light, the membrane is retracted.

No one, of course, can explain exactly just how far a bird can see, or how small an object can be spotted from aloft. But an animal as small as a mouse can be sighted, apparently, from distances up to a mile while a moving rabbit, to an owl or hawk, must seem as large as an elephant, judging from how quickly these birds make their deadly dive on the animal.

Pollution By New Chemicals

"Drinking water is being polluted by hundreds of new chemical products whose effects on human health are totally unknown," declares H. W. Poston, sanitary engineering director of the U.S. Public Health Service. Among the products to which he refers are plastics, detergents and insecticides which "cannot be completely removed from water now by standard methods."

"The effect on the human system of the constant accumulation of small increments of present-day chemicals is not known," Mr. Poston emphasizes. Furthermore, he declares, we do not know how to remove virus from treated water.

This situation, arising out of the phenomenal development of chemical manufacture and application of new chemicals to industrial processes with consequent discharge of chemical wastes into sources of water supply, calls, in Mr. Poston's words, for "immediate and expanded research to find ways of assuring safe, plentiful water."

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The serial printing of extracts from the Bible in daily newspapers continues in India. The Gospel of Mark has been published in Hindi, Bengali, Oriya, Gujarati, Telugu and Kannada; John, in Urdu, Marathi and Sinhalese, and Luke in Tamil.

The Calcutta Bible Society Auxiliary reports one hundred and thirty-eight enquiries, and in Bombay well over two hundred wanted to know more. Thousands are now taking Bible Correspondence courses.

In Delhi, a Hindu woman was so impressed by the reading of the story of the widow's mite (Mark 12: 41-44) that she and eighteen other women formed a group for study of the Gospel of Mark.

It is hoped that in due course, the Gospel will be published in the daily press in all the important regional languages.

These results prove that the Bible itself in the language of the people is a most effective tool of evangelism.

Readings:
Sunday — Psalms 16: 1-11
Monday — Romans 1: 1-17
Tuesday — Romans 1: 18-32
Wednesday — Romans 2: 1-29
Thursday — Romans 3: 1-31
Friday — Psalms 19: 1-14
Saturday — Psalms 42: 1; 43: 5.

Some startling results emerged from a survey carried out in Pittsburgh, Pa., says the Ontario Safety League. Two thousand questionnaires were circulated, and 93 percent of the reporting drivers admitted they exceeded posted speed limits. More than 18 percent said they drove under the influence of alcohol, and 65 percent admitted they drove after social drinking to some degree.

Overheard in the ladies room: "Personally I'm glad my husband isn't perfect — I love to nag!"

Jim: "Since when did you stop singing in the choir?"

Bill: "Since the Sunday I was absent and everybody thought that the organ had been tuned!"

GIANT FUNNEL IN PLACE

One of the finishing touches to the super structure of the new Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada — the placing of her giant 64-ton steel and aluminum funnel — was completed October 8th. The 27,300-ton liner, launched last May, is scheduled to go into service between Liverpool and Montreal in April 1961. Owing to the gleaming buff colored funnel with its red and white checkered house flag. The whole operation of lifting, moving the ship, and putting the funnel into position was completed in 60 minutes.

Earl McMaster was the head of a close knit family. A family that enjoyed their pleasures together. Our hearts go out in deepest sympathy to his wife Anna, sons Larry, David and Dennis, daughter Susan, his aged father, sisters and relatives.

a place for you."

In the light of events that have happened in the Ivanhoe community within the past month, one cannot help but entertain the thought, is God not trying to bring us to a realization as to our obligations to Him?

The prayer of this community should be, "Father prepare us for what thou art preparing us for. Heaven is a place of rest and renewed knowledge. Heaven will be our final home. Death is like the Inn where we sleep before we reach our final home."

The pallbearers were Messrs. Frank Brough, Edward Fleming, George Wood, Kenneth Jeffrey, Frank Palmer and Ross Laine.

The funeral was one of the largest ever held in this district.

Prior to going to Belleville in 1947 he resided on a farm on the 3rd Concession of Rawdon for close to fifty years. He took a keen interest in the affairs of the Township and for a number of years served on the municipal Council. He was a member of L.O.L. No. 442, Springbrook, and took an active part in the various branches of the Orange Order. While residing here he was a faithful member of St. John's Anglican Church, and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends.

Remembrance Programme Features November Meeting Stirling W.I.

Mrs. G. Mumby Hostess —
Plan Trip of County Home
— Clothing Is Required

A most interesting memorial programme was presented on Wednesday afternoon, when the members of Stirling Women's Institute were welcomed into the home of Mrs. Geo. Mumby, Front Street.

Mrs. B. Reid, the President, welcomed one and all, including three visitors and thanked Mrs. Mumby for opening her home for the November meeting.

Roll call was answered by a remembrance poem. One in particular was given by Mrs. Morley Ayrhart, "The Vision."

Around the Cenotaph we pray
To honour those of yesterday
Who, wounded, live, or gave their all
In answer to their country's call.

The scene the same from year to year
The arms reversed, the bugle clear;
Yet ever fresh within our view
The memory of those we knew.

And, though our eyes be wet with tears,
Through our confusion there appears
A vision of the world to be
When men will live in unity.

—Leonard J. Humphrey

Correspondence was tabled from Mrs. H. Coulter, District Secretary, asking for a $4.00 donation to enable the Area to send Mrs. R. Robson, of Holloway, Area President, to a convention in Vancouver.

To Visit
County Home

The Secretary reported on a conversation with Mrs. Ken Yorke, re Stirling W.I.'s visit to the County Home. A date was set and a reply made. Mrs. B. Reid and Mrs. C. Gay are the committee to arrange the programme. Mrs. W. C. West will be in charge of purchasing the treat that will go along with the visit.

The Treasurer, Mrs. W. C. West, gave an encouraging report of the work finished and the bank balance.

Quilt Donated

A beautiful quilt top has been donated by a lady in Belleville and arrangements are being made to have this quilted and on display for sale in time to be purchased for a Christmas gift. Mrs. Mumby kindly offered her home for this quilting and volunteered to complete the binding of same, which was much appreciated by the members.

Clothing
Wanted

The final date for the clothing sale will be the last week in November. It is hoped that anyone in the village and community will again liberally respond to this effort. A warm coat or sweater hanging in your wardrobe — not in use — will not bring warmth and comfort to an old gentleman or a little forlorn youngster. Give and give willingly, it will bring joy to you as well to know you are sharing with those in need. Call Mrs. W. C. West or if you want it picked up, call Mrs. L. Bronson. We are always happy to serve. In helping others we are helping ourselves.

The collection was $3.00. The repeating of the Mary Stewart Collect and the singing of the Queen closed the business of the November meeting.

With a short-time permitting, Mrs. M. Williams could only report part of the activities of the Area Convention held at Club Canara, Belleville, at which she was a delegate. This was very interesting and should be given more time for members of the local W.I. to discuss and grasp the qualities of each proceeding report. Mrs. Williams will give the remaining part at a later date.

Mrs. Mina Smith gave two humorous readings, "Hens are Human" and "The New Modern Bathroom."

Mrs. E. Luery gave a reading of the proceedings of Remembrance Day at Ottawa, of which she had attended. In part she said: Stretching towards Canadian skies the figures of peace and freedom glow with life as if guarding memories held in the secret places of their hearts during the eleventh hour on each Remembrance Day, symbolizing the faith of free people.

In a perpetual springtime set apart,

P.O. Hours Friday Nov. 11th

The public wicket at the Stirling Post Office will be open from 8 to 9 a.m. only tomorrow, Friday, November 11th. There will also be no rural mail delivery.

Bank Closes

The local Bank will also be closed on Remembrance Day. They will be open as usual today (Thursday) until 3 p.m. and will re-open later today from 4.30 p.m. until 6 p.m.

"At Home"

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Savage, Frankford R.R. 3, will be at home to their relatives, friends and neighbours in the Frankford Community Hall on Friday, November 11th at 8.00 p.m. on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Sells Home

A real estate deal of interest was completed recently when R. (Tex) McCullough, sold his home on Henry Street to Mr. Smith, of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. McCullough and family are moving today (Thursday) to Agincourt, where they have purchased a new home. He is now employed in Toronto.

Mrs. Carl Bateman Hostess To St. Andrew's W.M.S.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Carl Bateman with a splendid attendance.

The President opened the meeting with a word of welcome to all and the hymn, "God of Our Fathers" was sung, followed by two minutes' silence as this was the Armistice service.

Mrs. V. Matthews read the Scripture from Psalm 91, followed by prayer by Mrs. Harold McGee. Roll call was answered with the word "Peace."

Business discussed included a bale of used clothing to be sent this month. The Treasurer, Mrs. E. Cain, gave a very encouraging report and all agreed to dispense with a nominating committee and all ladies keep their offices for another year. The offering was received and dedicated.

Mrs. D. Montgomery presided over a very interesting programme. The hymn "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," was sung, followed by prayer by Miss Gena Spry.

Mrs. Don Fargy gave a very interesting chapter from the study book dealing on the many changes in Africa. Mrs. E. Fox gave a very suitable reading "Exodus." Mrs. Rooney chose for her topic, "Peace," and brought many wonderful thoughts for her listeners to follow. The hymn, "Breathe On Me Breath of God" and the Mizpah Benediction closed a very helpful meeting.

Mrs. Bateman and her assistants served a lovely lunch and Mrs. E. Cain expressed the thanks of the Society for same.

Their memory forever green shall grow,
In some bridge secret meadow of the heart
Where never falls the snow.

—Joseph Ouslander

Mrs. W. C. West had on display a Home and Country magazine of December 1936, reading different items therein. One was "International Day." In accordance with the suggestions of the Associated Country Women of the World, a number of the Institute Branches are giving at their November meeting special consideration to the question of world friendship in the month of Remembrance and Peace. All women, city and country, can be crusaders for peace.

Mrs. Morley Ayrhart gave a poem which was read at the opening of the new Oddfellow Hall, October 19th, 1887.

At the close of the programme a dainty lunch was served and a social time spent.

Mrs. Williams moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and the committee. Mrs. E. Luery, Mrs. W. C. West and Mrs. M. Ayrhart.

Truck Crashes Store Window

Failure of brakes was responsible for an accident on Friday night last when a truck mounted the sidewalk in front of Whitehead's Restaurant and crashed through the large plate glass window.

According to the police Wm. Weber, driver of the truck, had tried the brakes shortly before and found them working satisfactorily. Fortunately no one was on the sidewalk in front of the store at the time or more serious consequences would have resulted.

Rev. R. Gale Rotary Speaker

Rev. Russell Gale was the special speaker at the weekly meeting of the Stirling Rotary Club on Tuesday night. His remarks were based on Armistice and were well received by his fellow Rotarians.

Business Men To Discuss Plans For Christmas Season Tuesday Night

Plans for the coming Christmas season and the winter months will be the subject for discussion at a meeting of the business men of the Village to be held in the Council Chambers on Tuesday night next, November 15th, at 8 o'clock.

No community can stand still. Either it must progress or retrogress. Progress must necessarily come from within. It will be the result of constructive thought and action on the part of local business men and citizens. It will not result from sitting back and knocking the efforts of others who are striving to accomplish something of a constructive nature.

Too many of us in past years have sat quietly in our own little corner, content to leave such efforts as have made toward progress to some one else. We have given too little thought and effort to promoting the development of the community. If all of us decided that in future we would do a little more than our share in helping to promote a better community we would be surprised at the results.

Let's have a full turnout of the business men at next Tuesday's meeting.

H.S. Bowling

On Friday evening, November 4th, those of the High School bowlers who scored good games were Allan Tanner 210, John Noble 218 and Joe Hagerman 243.

Joe Hagerman rolled the high single 243 and Allan Tanner the high double 400.

Jim Tanner's "Jets" are in first place with 31 points, followed by Gary Devolin's "Mustangs" with 22 points, Allan Tanner's "Piper Cubs" with 13 points, and Allen Fletcher's "Golden Hawks" with 4 points.

Stirling High School Gridders Defeat Marmora

Although the game meant nothing as far as team standing in the league was concerned, Stirling and Marmora played a bang-up game in Marmora on November 3rd. The final score was 7 to 6 in favour of Stirling.

All the scoring took place in the second quarter with Marmora making an unconverted touchdown and Stirling a converted major. Spencer Brown caught the touchdown pass from Gary Wright and Jack Donnan received a conversion pass from the quarterback. Stirling threatened to add to their score in a play from the Marmora twelve yard line. It was third down and Kenny McConnell made a spectacular run, but was stopped only a foot from a first down and but two yards from a touchdown.

Stirling's pass defence was weak but the Marmora team could not contain the locals' running attack.

Pie Social By River Valley W.I.

The River Valley Women's Institute started off their series of social evenings with a pie social on November 5th. Over a hundred men, women and children were in attendance.

Mrs. Jack Donohoe and Mrs. Ralph Utman and their group convened the programme. Mr. Jack Bush acted as master of ceremonies and started off with a round of community singing with Mrs. Philip Conley at the piano.

The school children favoured with a group song, "Five Little Pumpkins." Mrs. Ernest Carr gave a reading, "Yesterday and Today," followed by a piano solo, "The Petite Waltz," by Marilyn Conley; reading, by Miss Marlene Blackburn, "A Happy Man;" piano duet, by Mrs. Ralph Utman and her daughter Cheryl; humorous reading, by Mrs. Roy Tucker, "No Eight Hour Day For Me."

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Thompson, of Hoards', were in attendance and showed a film, "Farming Yesterday and Today," arranged and produced by the Rev. G. Whitehorn, of Seymour district. The pictures were taken in that locality and were interesting and greatly enjoyed by all.

At this point another round of community singing made a welcome break and was followed by a number by the school children, "The Ghost That Couldn't Say 'Whoo-oo'."

Mrs. Jack Bush arranged some interesting games with Ken Sager and Miss Bernice McCurdy winning prizes for the egg tossing game and Doug Kane the prize for putting on a nylon stocking with oven mitts on his hands, blindfolded. The seam wasn't quite straight but he made it.

A grand assortment of pie, sandwiches and coffee was served and a social time enjoyed by all. Proceeds for the evening was $24.60.

THE BIBLE TODAY

The New Testament was originally written in Greek. The oldest surviving authentic manuscripts date from between three and four hundred years after Christ. Throughout the Christian era Christian scholars have studied and compared even fragments of these old documents so that the most accurate text will be available for study.

The latest examination of the material is being done by a committee of scholars of the Theological Faculty of the University of Athens, Greece, which has access to several documents and manuscripts not available to editors of earlier editions. As a result, a spokesman said, it is believed that the new text will be the most accurate ever published.

When published the new text is expected to replace the current edition used by Greek Orthodox Churches. It is expected that this new critical text will be published in the near future.

Carl Reid Writes of Life At Frobisher Bay, Baffin Island

Following is the final part of an article written by Carl Reid, who with Mrs. Reid and daughters, left August 21st for Baffin Island, Northwest Territories.

On September 11th we boarded a Canso (Amphibious) aircraft which carried also the teachers bound for Igloodik and Arctic Bay. We were in the air only an hour and had to return because of a snow storm. The weather was beautiful here but the pilot could see nothing in the storm. On September 15th we made a second attempt and reached Igloodik by 3.30 p.m. We sat aloft in this plane for an hour and ten minutes with doors open while an engineer completed his business on shore. From there we flew to Fox Main (DEW Line) for refuelling and overnight stop. Unfortunately the terminal there had not received the orders to billet us nor even give us coffee. Finally a man volunteered to give us instant coffee from his own ration in the warmth of the terminal common room. Judy became very popular among the office staff and was even allowed to send messages on the teletype. The building engineer who was a passenger asked the pilot to wait until 5.15 so he could finish his business there. During this wait the pilot learned the water temperature at Pond Inlet was 16 degs. F. so he had to abandon further plans and return to Frobisher. Had he landed in such cold water he would have stayed till spring because water spray freezes his wing flaps and rudder. Our pilot called the passengers aboard at 5.00 so we could take off when the engineer came, but he kept us waiting until 6.00 — once again with the plane cargo door open and no heat because the plane had to conserve fuel for the return trip. With the aid of a tall wind we sat down at Frobisher at 9.30. I believe these had been the most hectic twelve hours we had ever spent. We had no washroom facilities and only two sandwiches apiece all day. The Public Relations Officer met us at the plane and hurried us home to the apartment. When we had set our exhausted children into bed a neighbour came in to babysit while we enjoyed — really enjoyed — hot soup and toast at the PRO's home.

When the charter aircraft reported this trip to H.Q. in Montreal, all future flights of the charter were cancelled so we reside here until a plane can land on the ice with skills.

On September 19th the government took us off travel status and employed us here in Frobisher School. I teach 21 five-year-old pre-reading grade one Eskimos at Apex Hill while the Arctic Bay teacher instructs basic English to 10 French, German and Italian children ranging from 7 to 16 years. Because the school is overcrowded, two apartments have been converted to classrooms. The basic English classroom is a bedroom of one of these apartments while I use a 10x25 activity room as my kindergarten. We are quite at home on the floor but are promised tables and chairs as soon as the boat is unloaded.

We must accept the fact that we are settled here even though our winter apparel, personal goods and baby food are all at Pond. D.N.A. has allowed us $100 for emergency clothing and have loaned us parkas and flight boots so we can dress warmly for the outdoors. Ice has formed on the fresh water lakes but it is still unsafe for skating. During this time of year the sun rises about 7.00 and sets at 5.30. By mid-winter though the sun here will rise at 9.30 and set at 3.00.

Frobisher lies just north of 63 degs. N. Lat., so is not truly Arctic. All settlements within the circle have a period of no light in the winter and no darkness in the summer. Because the earth is flattened at the poles the Arctic dwellers get about one hundred hours more sunlight than you do in the temperate zone.

Several years ago the USAF bought and erected 19 fuel storage tanks here complete with connecting lines and a main line to the shore. Imperial Oil operates the fuel business here. They employ 20 men who deliver fuel for all aircraft, all local gasoline and diesel engines and heating units for the whole of Frobisher. Automobile owners can buy No. 1 gasoline here for 36c (there is no road tax) and home deliveries are 50c per gallon. Since September 2nd we have seen 2 tankers anchored in the bay. One from Venezuela spent 38 hours unloading 3,000,000 gals. via a 5" pipe which was buoyed from ship to shore.

A great problem of economy which we cannot understand is the expense and quality of materials in the disposal area (dump). There are bulldozers, crushers and trucks which lack only batteries and parts of the electrical system to put them back into operation. When a construction job is completed the company believes more economy is realized in scrapping the equipment than in shipping it south.

As soon as winter closes in we will attempt to send you a description. Since September 21st the days are becoming much shorter and more rapidly than in the south. Each day there is five minutes less time between sunrise and sunset. By December 21st we will have only five or six hours of light.

Because the natives are working for wages their old Eskimo culture is being lost. Only a small percentage at Frobisher are skilled seamstresses. Many operate dump trucks, water trucks, bulldozers and busses. D.N.A. is training Eskimos to operate heavy equipment so they can work in the south or with mining firms as they move in. There are both advantages and detriments to this scheme. One of our bus drivers occasionally frequents the "Rustic Room" (this has been his privilege since April 1st) then attempts to make his usual bus runs the following morning. He usually does quite well but Thursday morning he bowed an oil drum which was marking the shoulder of the road and later had us all gripping the backs of our seats while he was pulled in and struggled out of the road shoulder. Many drivers are not bothered if they break these vehicles for they know the white man can get more parts from the airplane. For these reasons the cost for equipment maintenance is terrific. A new motor grader has been here more than two months but it has been operated only four days on account of breakdowns. The same scheme has assets though for D.N.A. hopes to open new vocations for these "hunters in the land of dwindling prey." Men have to travel fifty miles down the Bay to get to the good seal.

walrus and polar bear grounds (waters). There are a few caribou north of the settlement. Ptarmigan, hares, ducks and cranes are moderately plentiful. I have seen one ermine but no kit foxes yet even though they are plentiful.

Two Eskimos, another teacher and I are planning a duck and seal hunt this week-end. We will travel across the Bay to an island cluster in an eighteen foot boat carrying guns, primus stove, tent and four sleeping bags and a bit of food in case we catch none. I'll tell you more about the hunt later — especially if we get any game. The whites here are not allowed to hunt but they can go on organized hunts with the Eskimos. You'll never guess who really organized this one.

Some years ago the Eskimos always stalked their best bitch dogs away out among the hills while they were ovulating so the wolves would breed with them. This kept their race of dogs very strong and healthy but now the huskies of Frobisher are diminishing rapidly. One has to search the entire settlement to find enough dogs for a team. No man has a full dog team in the condition he had them a decade ago. In 1959 rabies killed 90 percent of the dogs here. At that time the RCMP warned that any dog seen wandering free would be shot on sight. Since the dogs have nothing to do they wander about, tearing garbage and sometimes even mauling children and pet cats. Many of these dogs were kept in a pound but the keeper frequently forgot to feed them so they soon escaped. Many were exiled to an island in the Bay last August and given food. This plan was very short lived because at low tide the dogs swam home. Now we have an island abounding in governmental dog food but no dogs.

On Sunday morning, October 3rd, we let Judy play in the sand outside tethered to our front door so we could watch her. Not five minutes after she was first put out I heard her say "goggie, goggie," so I rose again to the window. I hadn't left it for more than a minute or two, because the dogs do make us quite tense. Three dogs, out of curiosity, had come to investigate her presence. One apparently had knocked her over for she was lying on her back and he was tugging at her arm. I raced frantically for the door and got a blanket well tangled under it. We have trouble with drafts under the porch door. I thrashed myself through this mess for I knew these huge dogs would hurt her for she could neither get away nor resist them. Before I reached her the second dog had his foot on her chest and was pulling her scarf and hat off. I roared at the dogs and picked Judy up, hugged her and talked to her for she was badly frightened. She couldn't understand why her friendly dogs had been so rough. She kept rubbing her right arm and saying "sore, sore daddy." While trying to find marks on her arm Beverley screamed from the window that blood was oozing from her hairline at the back of her head. I rushed her into the kitchen and had to kick the dogs away from the step on my way in. They were not the least bit alarmed nor even aggressive. Beverley and I discovered tooth cuts in her scalp and slight bruises on her arm. I went next door and asked our neighbour to come to our aid then phoned the hospital and RCMP. I was asked to meet the doctor at the hospital immediately. He didn't know until we got there that Judy's earlier immunization shots had contained tetanus serum. During her examination the doctor found five lacerations and five other scratches on her scalp and 9 bruises on her right arm. We thank God that we were watching her closely and that the dogs hadn't yet begun to quarrel because one more minute would have been serious.

I left Beverley and Judy at the hospital and went with the RCMP to find the dogs. They were right in front of our apartment sniffing the blood in the sand but we couldn't catch them even though we could walk to within twenty feet before they would wander off. During the next few minutes and eight rounds of ammunition the constable had wounded one while the police pilot had run the second down with his cruiser. On a separate posse the Corporal had shot another dog at the opposite end of the village. The next day they killed the wounded dog and the third aggressor, but all of Frobisher is still quite uneasy even though there are no dogs running loose now; because this was the second dog scare in six weeks. Judy had to be given tranquilizers for five nights for she could not sleep well. During the day she was fine but while asleep her subconscious mind would recall the encounter and she would toss, cry, sit up and sometimes scream during the night. Please rest assured that she is fine now and that we accompany her on harness every time she goes out now. The doctor (Continued on page six)

BROILERS — CONSUMER INFORMATION

Chicken broilers are in plentiful supply for November and therefore very reasonably priced. Here are some of the answers the Canada Department of Agriculture gives to Consumers questions about this very popular bird.

Question — What are broilers?

Answer — Broilers are young chicken usually under 4 months of age. Their average weight is between 1½ to 2½ pounds. They are raised specifically for eating, and have a tender meat and smooth skin with a very little underlayer of fat. They are sometimes called broilers fryers.

Question — How do I choose a good broiler?

Answer — Look for the grade mark on the breast of the bird. It is placed on a coloured metal tag, insert, or a transparent lithographed bag. Canada Grade Special (purple tag) indicates a top quality bird. It is not always available. The most commonly found grade is Canada Grade A (red tag) which insures a normally formed and a well fleshed bird. The grade mark insures quality — buy by grade.

Question — In what form are broilers sold?

Answer — Broilers are sold as whole birds; fresh or frozen. They are sold split down the back into halves; cut into 4 quarters; or cut into pieces — breasts, legs and thighs, wings. Also, some larger food stores have installed rotisserie machines and sell cooked broilers. The cheapest way to buy is usually whole — the most expensive, rotisserie cooked.

Question — How much do I buy?

Answer — Allow ½ pound per person. More if seconds are to be served.

Question — How do I cook broilers?

Answer — If left whole, broilers may be stuffed and roasted, barbe-

Penny — Russett Nuptials At St. John's

A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 15th at 2:00 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, when the Reverend Russell Gale united in marriage Sadie Elizabeth Russett, of Harold R.R. 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russett, to Daniel Henry Penny, of Oshawa, son of Mr. Edward Penny and the late Mrs. Penny. White 'mums and shasta daisies adorned the altar and white satin bows the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length bridal gown of white net over taffeta, fashioned with smoothly molded bodice featuring a scalloped neckline and long, lily-point sleeves accented by a row of tiny buttons at the wrists. She wore a shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, deeply embroidered and designed at the back, draped to form a headress trimmed with simulated pearls and sequins. Her bouquet was of mauve orchids mingled with white shasta daisies, in cascade style.

Mrs. Clifford Beaudrie, of Foxboro, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a street-length gown of beige brocade taffeta with cummerbund and large bouffant back bow; matching gauntlets and hat.

Mrs. Lloyd Yakeley, of Goodwood, Ont., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Deanna Edwards, of Bonarlaw, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids, were gowned in olive-green brocade taffeta, made similarly to that of the matron of honor. All wore plastic slippers, with rhinestone trim, and carried bouquets of yellow and bronze 'mums.

Mr. Lloyd Yakeley, of Goodwood R.R. 1, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Gerald Russett, of Harold R.R. 2, and Mr. Richard Bradmore, of Oshawa, were ushers.

The reception was held in the church parish hall, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing navy crepe trimmed with matching satin and white accessories. She wore a talisman rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to Peterboro, North Bay, Sudbury, Whitney, Pembroke, Fort Coulonge, Que., and Ottawa, and Kingston, the bride wore a wool plaid suit with brown and white accessories and corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Guests attended from Pembroke, Arnprior, Renfrew, Bancroft, Bonarlaw, Newtonville, Stirling, Belleville, Oshawa, Goodwood and Uxbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Penny will reside at 55 Arlington Avenue, Oshawa.

Authority Granted To Assess Land

With better assessment practices being carried out by various municipalities, many hunt camp occupants have found that the land as well as the hunt camp is being assessed and taxed.

As a result, many inquiries have been made by the land use permit holders as to the right of the municipality to assess this land.

Authority is granted to the municipality by virtue of Section 32 (1) of Chapter 24 of the Assessment Act to assess Crown land held under land use permit for hunt camp purposes, in addition to assessing the hunt camp building.

"SCHOOL PHOBIA"

This term is used, by some authorities, to determine a fear or dislike on the part of the 'school-kid'. In many cases THE CAUSE lies deeper: may serve as Nature's warning, TO PARENTS, of a positive handicap to the child's progress. The teacher cannot intelligently be charged with neglect to report beyond the quite superficial 'Yes' or 'No' respecting the child's recognition of 20/20 visual perception.

The safe procedure is the Specialist in Vision Care.

October 13th

The weather has been cold all week so we will be skating on the fresh water ponds this week-end when we return from our hunt.

One last attraction that I must describe about the capital of Baffin Island is radio station VOFB. Three electrically minded members of Upper Base here set up Station VOFB as a hobby and broadcast sixteen hours a day on their 50,000 milliwatt transmitter. They transcribe humorous shows from the south, have request sessions on the "Stick Buddy Jamboree," give the time and weather checks and give no commercials. This is not a sponsored station — in fact they don't even have a licence, but D.O.T. seem to allow the irregularity in order to enjoy the music. This is a commendable venture for a settlement of only 1,300 people.

I am crowding the bottom of another sheet so must sign off so I can duplicate these sheets and get your copy in the mail. I trust you will excuse my impersonal mode of writing. Please send us any news of the south and be sure to tell us about yourselves, your successes and even your troubles if they are little ones.

Sincerely yours,

Madoc and Elzevir S.S. Convention

The members of the Pentecostal Church were hosts to the 1960 Madoc and Elzevir Sunday School Convention. Rev. Morgan opened the meeting with the singing of "Holy, Holy, Is What the Angels Sing," after which he extended a cordial welcome to all. Rev. Isaac Wood of the Standard Church led in prayer after which the usual business was transacted.

The business, after being finished without much delay, was followed by a short hymn-sing. The offering was dedicated by Rev. Wood.

The speaker of the morning, Mr. W. A. Smith, of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Madoc, spoke fittingly on the theme, "The Sunday School in Action." He asked the pertinent question, "What do we see in children?" and advised those present to set in motion the desire in the child to serve the Lord. "What will be the future of our children and how can we keep the teenagers in the Sunday School?" He advised all to help them seek and find the highest and best in life for them and to prepare the children to fill places suitable to them. He advised on how to increase the Sunday School membership, different ways to contact parents and those not so easily reached. He read an interesting poem on "What Little Girls Are Made Of." Mrs. McEwen pronounced the benediction, and tea was served in the basement of the church for those bringing lunch, giving everyone there a chance to browse around the new church, which is very beautiful.

The afternoon session was opened with a hymn sing by Mrs. F. Bailey, followed by the devotional by Mrs. J. Brownson. Rev. J. Hicks led in prayer. Mrs. Jack Smith led the group in a number of action choruses.

Mrs. Clarence Stevenson favoured with a solo, "He Giveth More Grace." Rev. Stobart brought the message of the afternoon on the theme for this year. He advised everyone to keep teaching on a level with the hearers in the class, to teach not using long words or thoughts not beyond their comprehension. He advised taking a deep spiritual thought and bringing it out in easily assimilated expressions, that the individuals we teach may grasp easily. Put the food where the Lambs can reach it and don't overwhelm them with words beyond their understanding. He said for a Sunday School to have power, it must come in touch with a power beyond itself.

Mr. E. Blakely led in a discussion period. The closing prayer was given by Rev. Morgan.

The ladies of the Pentecostal Church served a most bountiful supper.

Mrs. Allan Franks opened the evening service with a hymn sing, followed by Mr. Mervil Lees with the devotional. Mrs. O'Rourke gave the report of the nominating committee and Miss M. Moorcroft explained about the temperance awards and studies. The Cooper Junior Choir was faithful again this year in doing their share to make the convention a success.

Mr. Jack Smith presented the banner to the Spry Settlement Sunday School. James Brownson received it as their superintendent. Rev. McEwen installed the officers, after which Rev. B. H. Hartwell sang a solo.

Mr. J. M. D. McLeod, of Marmora United Church, spoke on the theme in the evening. He suggested the impressions on the children make all the difference. Their play, their story time, chorus, etc. should be directed in the right channels.

Mrs. J. Hicks reported on the courtesy committee after which Mr. W. A. Smith closed the convention with prayer.

If you drive to make fast time, you may drive for the last time.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

HOW TO KILL RODENTS IN YOUR ORCHARD

If mice and rabbits played havoc with your young fruit trees last year, you might be interested in these remedies from the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Russell Chard, fruit and vegetable fieldman, supplies the information.

If mice damage is your main worry your first job is to try to cut down the mice population, says Chard. Use poison baits such as zinc phosphide mixed in cracked corn, oats, and wheat. Another way: use the insecticide DDT as a ground spray. The mice will get the poison on their fur when they run through the grass and die after licking it off. Keep children and livestock from the fields after treating.

Once you've reduced the mice population, try these measures:

— Clean the grass and weeds away from the trunks of trees.

— Dig away some of the soil around the trunk and replace with crushed stone.

— Use wire mesh tree guards and set the mesh well in the crushed stone. If the snow gets so deep in the winter that the mice can get over the guards, go out and tramp down the snow around each tree.

The fruit and vegetable fieldman feels repellants are your best bet with rabbits. One old standby he suggests is a mixture of resin and ethyl alcohol. This is hard to mix and must be put on when the trees are perfectly dry.

A substitute you might try is an asphalt water emulsion — such as "Braco" — mixed with Arasan or Thiram. Dilute 1 gallon of braco with 2 gallons of water and stir in 5 pounds of 50 percent Arasan or Thiram or 3 pounds of 75 percent Arasan or Thiram. Apply the mixture with a brush or old glove any time the temperature is above freezing.

CATTLE FEEDING CONTRACTS DISCUSSED BY ECONOMIST

If you have the feed and facilities but are short of financial backing, a feed contract is one way you can still have a beef feeding operation without buying the cattle outright.

According to O. A. C. economist P. A. Wright, two types of beef feeding contracts are popular in Ontario: the gain-in-weight contract and the fee-per-head-per-day contract. From the feeder's standpoint both offer less risk than the guaranteed margin, the sharing, or the incentive contract. This is how he explains it.

The gain-in-weight contract pays the feeder on the basis of the gain in weight put on the cattle at an agreed price or so many dollars per hundred, says Wright.

"This charge for each pound of difference between the in and out weight has been running around 16c to 22c lately. Calves are usually fed around the 16c charge; big cattle lean toward the 22c charge. It has been a popular contract with farmers who feed pasture, green chop, or silage."

This popularity has fallen off some these few years, Wright feels. A gain-in-weight contract frequently results in poor owner-feeder relations.

It's impossible in advance to pick those animals that will be poorer doers due to things like nervousness, diseases and parasites. Usually an owner will stand the death loss for a month, then it is split 50-50 with payment on death loss to be figured out beforehand on the in weight," he explains.

Another reason this type of contract has fallen out of favour is that the length of the feeding period is seldom stipulated in such contracts. Remember, the longer the feeding period, the greater the cost of the gains, says the economist.

Gain-in-weight contracts have also lost favour owing to difficulties over weighing conditions. The amount of fill or shrinkage when weighing animals in and out of feedlot is important to both the farmer and owner and is a source of argument.

Under the fee-per-head-day contract, the feeder is merely selling feed and providing yardage and labour service for a flat fee, explains Wright. The feeder doesn't assume any risk. The feeder doesn't normally guarantee gains or a limit on the cost of gain but he does try to get fast, economical gains for the owner.

"Yardage charges run about 5c per head per day. Feed, in many instances, is charged at cost plus 12c to 20c a hundred weight," says the economist.

The owner furnishes the cattle delivered to the feedlot and moves them from the feedlot when finished. He determines the length of feeding. The owner usually pays for all veterinary services and the costs are included in the monthly or twice monthly feed statement sent him by the feeder. The owner assumes all death losses and other risks. He also may be required to pay bills on a monthly basis.

The feeder is usually allowed to pick the ration since he usually has the most knowledge of what type ration to feed for best results. The feeder retains the manure.

"Any of the contracts are good," stresses Wright, "if they are written to serve the purpose and intent of both parties. A good contract is one that doesn't take advantage of either party and is mutually agreed upon."

WINTER BARLEY

Winter barley can be grown successfully in Ontario only in the southern part of the province, says Roland Loiselle, Genetics and Plant Breeding Institute, Ottawa.

Hudson is the only recommended variety.

Where adapted, winter barley yields better and matures earlier than spring barley.

Improved strains that are expected to extend the cultural range of winter barley are being tested by plant breeders of the Ontario Agricultural College and of the Research Branch, Canada Department of Agriculture.

The first Canadian canal with locks was built on the St. Lawrence just above Montreal in 1779 by the Royal Engineers.

Winning Entries 4-H Livestock Championship Show From Hastings Co.

The 4-H Livestock Championship Show was held at the Ottawa Winter Fair on Friday, October 28th. The Hastings County entry of 28 calves and 8 swine was only a small portion of the show of more than 600 entries, but Hastings boys and girls came home with a sizeable share of the ribbons.

In the Guernsey class, Joan Vandervoort, of Trenton, showed the Grand Champion Guernsey calf. The Grand and Reserve Champion Angus heifers were exhibited by brother and sister, Jim and Sandra Wood, of St. Olaf.

The remaining calves placed well up in the second and third prize groups. The club members were as follows: Hereford, Susanne and Ken Bedore, Marmora; Paul Doyle, Marmora; Bill O'Brien, Coe Hill; Glenda Nicholson, The Ridge; Dwaine Campbell, Coe Hill.

Guernsey — Joanne Brian and Larry Bertrand, Marmora.

Shorthorn — Shiela Slater, Foxboro; Ayrshire — David Murray, Stirling; Holstein — Blair and Bill Vermilyea, Belleville; Keith Thompson, of Corbyville; Ron Heath, Ann Sutherland, both of Stirling; Joe Hagerman, of Harold; Garry McComb, Bonarlaw; Clare Trevelton, of Plainfield; Allan Thompson, Maira; Garnet Geen, Roslin.

In the 4-H Swine Show, Agnes McKeown, of Springbrook, had the Reserve Champion pair of gilts. Paul McKeown had a first and a second prize gilt while both Ron and Robert Hamilton, Trenton, exhibited second prize swine.

The quality of the livestock representing Hastings County was a credit to the farm people and an indication of the desire of farmers to improve their cattle and swine.

Ronald Heath, Stirling R.R. 1, received the Massey-Ferguson Limited Award for obtaining the highest score in the County on his year's work excluding the score on his calf. The award was a True Type Model of a Holstein Cow.

Editors Study Changing Role In Next Decade

There is no indication that newspaper reading has declined in the face of competition from radio and television. The role of both weekly and daily newspapers will be of enormous and continuing importance far beyond the 1960s.

This was the conclusion reached by a team of University of British Columbia professors during a panel discussion at the recent 41st annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Led by Dr. John Friesen, UBC extension department chief, the educators addressed the 450-odd delegates on the topic, "Can the Weeklies Survive the Sixties?"

Professor Alan Thomas told the editors that newspapers must concentrate on less reporting and more analysis if they are to meet the challenge of the sixties.

"For this reason, newspapers must now provide a different kind of reporting, whether they be weekly or daily," he said.

Panel member Dr. John Young told the editors that anyone without an education in science today is ill-educated, no matter what career he pursues.

Dr. Young was joined by other panelists in calling for more newspaper writers skilled in reporting scientific, economic and other technical subjects.

"No one in this country will be able to carry on his job in the years to come if he relies on the training he received when he was 20 or 30. We all will need continuing education," Dr. Young said.

Third member of the panel was UBC professor Frank Forward. He warned that Canadians will have occasion to worry about the nation's economy from time to time and that newspapers must play a responsible role in interpreting economic problems.

"Often, what seems to be a crisis is simply a natural and healthy balancing within the complicated mechanism of our economy. Editors must be careful not to alarm their readers about developments which are nothing more than natural shifts in balance."

"Let us worry about our economy in an intelligent and well-informed way," he suggested.

A group such as weekly newspaper editors should be in a position to make a sterling contribution in this connection," Professor Forward said.

The Struggle For Press Freedom

The government-ordered firing of Anthony Henry, one of Canada's first newspaper editors, is recalled, in the new edition of the pocket annual Quick Canadian Facts, in an article that reviews the two-century history of the press of Canada and the long struggle for a press independent of government control or influence.

Anthony Henry was dismissed in 1786 from the editorship of the Halifax Gazette, established as Canada's first newspaper 14 years before, for his criticism of taxes levied under the Stamp Act. When Henry's paper was replaced by the semi-official Nova Scotia Gazette he brought out a rival weekly. This was Canada's first newspaper to be independent of government patronage, and within a year it had absorbed the subsidized paper. The article tells also of newspaper editors required to post substantial cash bond to insure that the contents of each issue would be submitted for official approval prior to publication, of the trial of Joseph Howe and its contribution to press freedom and, more recently, of the rejection of a government subsidy by the national, co-operative news service, the Canadian Press. "In its first years," notes the article, "the CP accepted an annual 50,000 subsidy from the federal government to pay the cost of bridging three gaps in national wire service but, in the belief that such government aid could prejudice its independence, the news association dropped the subsidy in 1925."

Hopeless Mental Case: "Man who's crazy about himself."

In the year ending March 31, 1960, total spending by the provincial governments, exclusive of debt retirement, is estimated at $2.6 billion, an increase of about $1 billion in five years.

Immersion May Be Key To Space Travel

If man ever does travel to the stars he may do so in a tank of liquid, just as he travelled about with his mother before he was born.

In a report received by the Health League of Canada, an experiment at the University of Cincinnati showed immersion offers highly effective protection against sudden acceleration in velocity, such as that needed to send a manned projectile into space.

The experiment, using mice, was conducted by Dr. B. Black-Schaffer and Dr. G. T. Henley. They said nature has provided the design for the ideal space capsule.

To simulate the conditions, baby mice were put in a state of suspended animation. This was achieved by cooling the bodies until there was a cessation of respiration, heart beat and metabolism. The mice were then immersed in transparent bags containing a briny solution and put in a centrifuge that spun them at various velocities.

The scientists found the mice so treated survived stress from acceleration that would have been fatal had they been in their normal state.

CPR PAYS HOMAGE TO GREAT FIGURES OF THE PAST

On November 7th, 1885, a group of bearded, frock-coated beaver-hatted Canadian Pacific officials and directors, surrounded by railway engineers and trackworkers, gathered in the chilly mist of Eagle Pass at Craigellachie, British Columbia, to watch the driving of the spike that completed Canada's first transcontinental railway. Historians say that Lord Strathcona's hammer-taps were literally heard around the world, since the linking of the rails at Craigellachie fulfilled the terms of Confederation, making Canada at last truly a nation "from sea unto sea." In Montreal, N. R. Crump, president of today's Canadian Pacific, commenting on the 75th anniversary of the event, said: "While on this historic occasion we pay homage to the great figures of the past — the men who built Canada's first transcontinental railway — it should not be forgotten that it was their vision of the future which laid the economic foundations and also established the basis of the world-wide transportation enterprise of Canadian Pacific today." Canadian Pacific has grown in the seven and a half decades since Craigellachie into an integrated transportation system of 85,000 route miles serving Canada and the world by land, sea and air. ### Senior Volleyball Teams Win Trophy

After clinching the C.H.S.S.A. championship by defeating Marmora in the last game 27-17, it was with high hopes that the senior team from Stirling-Rawdon High School went to Belleville last Wednesday. To be in the final play-off, it was necessary for the team to defeat three teams during the day, which is exactly what the team did, defeating Brighton, Albert College and Campbellford. The final play-off came at 8.30 p.m. with O.S.D. being the challenging opponents.

Seeing O.S.D. during the day defeating some very good teams, it was thought by all that this would be a very exciting play-off. For every serve there followed a desperate struggle for the point, but when the whistle blew to end the first match the score was 14-7 in favour of Stirling.

That left one match between the senior team and that glittering trophy which sat on the desk opposite the court. If it was thought the first match was exciting, the second match was breathtaking. O.S.D. recovering their confidence, were determined to win this match. To all appearances it seemed as if they might until Jean Tompkins, the Stirling captain, let go with some very powerful serves. Amidst screams and cheering, the whistle blew; the score, 13-10 for Stirling.

Stirling's name will be engraved on the Bay of Quinte C.S.S.A. trophy for the second consecutive year. Juniors Made Good Showing

It was a great disappointment, especially for the juniors that they could not bring home another trophy. They lost, after winning three games, to Marmora, only after showing a great comeback in the second match to defeat Marmora. Marmora was able to capitalize in the third match to play-off with Madoc Juniors, who were able to defeat Marmora in two matches.

Seniors To Play At C.O.S.S.A.

The Seniors, however, are not finished. On November 26th there will take place at Belleville the games for the C.O.S.S.A., which is the Central Ontario Championship. This is in the middle of exams but the Stirling team will be there, we hope, to win the C.O.S.S.A.

The Good Driver

Religious leaders of many faiths have declared that reckless driving is a sin, says the Ontario Safety League. Now, Bishop Maurice Schexnayder, of Lafayette, La., has issued a pronouncement refusing Christian burial to Roman Catholics declared by the competent police officials to have been criminally negligent in highway accidents resulting in their deaths. The bishop's action was taken the week following a four-car collision in which nine persons were killed. Unconfirmed reports state that a $10.00 drag race bed led to the collision.

The human factor is the dominant element in safe driving, says the Ontario Safety League. Mr. F. G. Gardiner, Q.C., once said: "Experts quote statistics that the automobile now carries only 1.7 passengers, that soon in will be carrying only 1.5 passengers, and if you follow their arguments to their illogical conclusion you can see the day when the automobile will be only carrying half a passenger. ## Remembrance Day Observed at River Valley W.I. Meet

Mrs. John Kane was hostess on November 3rd for the River Valley Women's Institute with 17 members and two visitors in attendance.

The living room was decorated with rows of flags and poppies. A large cross of poppies was placed in front of the fire place in commemoration of the first place in commemoration of Remembrance Day, November 11.

The President, Mrs. Roy Tucker, opened the meeting and the program was conveyed by Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh who read a poem in keeping with the theme of the meeting. Mrs. Roy Bush outlined the motto, "The true way to mourn the dead is to take care of the living and to belong to them." She stressed that one should give her best to the world around and thus be alive to the needs of today. Mrs. Alex Bush read "O Valiant Hearts," and Mrs. Philip Conley accompanied this with appropriate piano music. The convener read a poem entitled "Remembrance" and two minutes' silence was observed. Following this Mrs. Hearnman sang "Lest We Forget." The convener closed the programme with an informative paper on "current events."

The correspondence included a thank you letter, a message from the district secretary, Mrs. Harry Coulter, asking the branch to provide $4.00 as the Trent Valley area had decided to send Mrs. Roscoe Robson, area chairman, to Vancouver in June 1961 to the F.W.I.C. national convention.

Financial Report

Mrs. George Hearnman gave a full financial report, which included paying for three cars for transportation to the area convention, and one to the District Workshop and the delegates' meals at the convention. A donation of $10.00 was made for the F.W.I.O. project, coupons for Jamaica. The euchre parties have commenced Friday evening and it was decided to charge 10 cents extra this year.

The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Hearnman, the convener being Mrs. Allen McDonnell and Mrs. Don Donohoe. Each lady is asked to bring 50 cents for a special fund. The Canada Packers coupons are to be handed in at this meeting.

A.C.W.W. helps promote friendly relations between the nations and they use the voluntary gifts from the "Pennies for Friendship" fund as a special way of carrying on their extension work in other countries. At this meeting River Valley Branch decided to have a "friendship jar." The pennies gathered at this meeting numbered over 60.

There were several reports as follows: Mrs. Roy Bush spoke briefly re the evening meeting of the Trent Valley Area Convention, and Mrs. Jack Bush reported for the second day and said it was truly a "Friendly Convention." Mrs. Percy MacMillen the alternate delegate for the first day, was unavoidably absent at the October meeting. She and Mrs. Ralph Utman were on the reception committee for the first session on October 11th at Club Canara. Mrs. Gerald Brooks spoke briefly re "The District Workshop" on October 31st at Wallbridge on the "Eat to Live" topic. Three members attended the two sessions. She also reported the various meetings of the River Valley

"Sew and Sew" 4-H Club.

Fry -- Jeffs Two-Ring Rites

In St. John's United Church, Campbellford, recently, Betty Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald S. Jeffs, of Campbellford, became the bride of Gerald Grant Fry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Fry, of R.R. 1, Bonarlaw.

Officiating in the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Gordon Whitehorn, with Mrs. George Nicholls at the organ and Mrs. Frank Potts singing "O Promise Me," "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of fitted lines with a rounded neckline gently dipped at back and long lily-point sleeves. The fully bouffant crinoline skirt was complemented by a puffed bustle back caught with a large bow and streamers.

She wore a Juliet cap of flower petals showered with rhinestones and baby seed pearls, caught to a fingertip veil of silk illusion, and carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Betty Fry, of Campbellford, was maid of honour, and Mrs. Evan McCulloch and Miss Harriet Fry, sisters of the bride and bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

They were identically gowned in honey beige and moss green silk organza with waist-length skirts. The bodices featured rounded necklines accented with lace. Headresses were of matching velvet petals tipped with pearls and caught to organza bows and over-the-face veils. They carried cascades of chrysanthemums.

Little Kathryn Jeffs, of London, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a short dress in honey beige, with butterfly bows at the back, a flowered headband, and carried bronze and yellow 'mums in a basket.

The groom was attended by Earl Fry, of Bonarlaw, and ushers were James Jeffs, of London, and Ralph Fry, of Bonarlaw, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held in the church parlor, with guests attending from Syracuse, N.Y., Detroit, Mich., London, Belleville, Marmora and Cobourg.

The bride's mother received in a gown of purple brocade satin with short jacket, hat of velvet petals shading from mauve to purple, and accessories of smoke grey. Her corsage was of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose a two-piece ensemble of soft blue crystal charm with accessories in matching tones, and wore a corsage of pink roses.

For traveling to Niagara and points west, the bride wore a wool boucle suit in moss green with black and white accessories.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Fry will live at R.R. 1, Bonarlaw.

THE BIBLE TODAY

The opening of new Bible Houses throughout the world to provide centres of Bible Society work, and facilities for increased Bible distribution, has proved successful. A report from Nairobi says that Scripture distribution has increased to 200,000 copies annually which is twice the former number. Plans are being made to increase circulation to 350,000 and to increase the number of colporteurs throughout this area.

A report from the Geneva Bible House, a Bible distributing agency with branches in France, Italy, Portugal, North Africa, Transvaal and Brazil, announces that after three years work a new Bible House has been opened in Dakar (Mali, West Africa).

The Australian Government assisted the British and Foreign Bible Society to erect a new Bible House in Canberra the capital of the Dominion. The Prime Minister gave the dedication address and said that the Bible House was one of the most beautiful buildings in the capital.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with a torsion bar independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them!) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that used to cost somebody money if they were bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding to wear out parts before their time. The upshot of it is you either save money or earn more of it, or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer.

ORDINARY I-BEAM FRONT AXLE. All trucks had it at one time: a stiff-beam design that transmits road shock and vibration from one wheel to the other and up to the chassis, cab and the load.

CHEVY'S INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION. Each wheel flexes independently, keeps the truck and the load level with the road; minimizes tire abuse as well as stress and strain on chassis and cab.

What Are The Values A Young Person Receives From Being A Member of Jr. Farmer Organization

Many times when a young person is asked to join Junior Farmers he or she, knowing very little about the organization, asks "What are Junior Farmers, what good do they do, what would I get out of being a member?" Here are a few of the answers to these questions, points which were brought out in a panel discussion at a recent meeting of the local Rawdon Junior Farmers' Club.

First, it is important that everyone knows the motto of the Junior Farmer Organization which is "Self Help and Community Betterment."

Let us examine the first part of that motto. How could being a member of the Junior Farmers possibly help improve one's self?

First of all it helps develop poise and self-confidence, one learns to get up and speak in front of other people, to voice his own opinions and to take an active part in all the group's activities. We can point to our local Rawdon Club as an example of this. Last Spring we formed a square dance group who danced in four different competitions and at present hold the square dance championship for this district. It is doubtful if any of the members of this team would have even considered getting up and dancing before an audience if they hadn't been members of the Junior Farmers.

In addition in being an active member one learns to get along better with others, to work as a group rather than individually, putting the best interests of the club and the other members ahead of one's own preferences. You learn to unselfishly put aside your own plans to work on club projects, plan meetings and other activities.

The theme of most meetings is mainly educational, striving to teach something or to give the members a deeper insight into different phases of life around us. With church services, inspirational talks by church and community leaders, Junior Farmers do their small part to strengthen the faith of their members and improve the community. It is rarely that you find a good, active Junior Farmer member who is not a valued member of his or her community and church and who has a deep and abiding faith in God.

An ever widening circle of friends and acquaintances and a broader knowledge of our own and other countries is the valuable reward of the active worker and leader in Junior Farmer work. Visiting and working with young people from other counties can bring about lasting friendships for all members. Developing and putting forth their leadership qualities at the camps and training schools held each year can mean only more friends for those who take part, but can win for them the opportunity to be chosen as delegates on the exchange trips sponsored by the Province each year. Several members from Hastings County have been chosen to visit Great Britain or the United States in other years. Perhaps you, if you are of the age to become a member, or your son or daughter might be chosen some day.

So far we have been talking mainly about the first part of our Junior Farmer motto, but what about that important second part, "Community Betterment?" What does our Junior Farmer Organization do to improve the community and country to which it belongs and what can the individual member do to make this land of ours a better place for all to live?

Many clubs organize projects at various times, some designed to raise money for operating expenses, others intended for the improvement of our homes and communities. Due to lack of support and encouragement from our community our local club has been unable to organize any project of the latter type, but we are hoping to be able to do so in the future.

Our Clubs usually try to plan wholesome activities for the young people. Usually in small towns like ours juvenile delinquency is a minor problem compared to larger centres, but all will, or should agree that any effort, no matter how small, to provide not only recreation but also a variety of interesting activities to keep young people occupied is a step in the right direction towards making this land of ours a better place for all to live.

Good Junior Farmer members usually try to set good examples for others. This has been questioned at different times, especially when you hear someone remark about the rowdy happenings at 'The Junior Farmer dance the other night,' but it must be borne in mind that the Junior Farmers are only sponsoring such dances and are, like any other organization, unable to evict anyone attending that dance, until such time as that person creates a scene that spoils the enjoyment of any of the others attending. On the whole, most members set and follow high standards that are the credit to themselves and the community. It might also be pointed out that good Junior Farmer members usually are and continue to be active members in their community and church. Our organization helps individual members to develop their talents and skills which may eventually make them assets to their communities. By increasing just one member's self-confidence, by helping just one member to develop what skills or talents he or she may possess, we are doing our best to make that person a better, more worthwhile person, thus contributing through him to the betterment of the community.

The Junior in your household, be it rural or urban, can receive innumerable benefits from such an organization and your community can benefit from having such a club actively at work among your young people.

River Valley Sew and Sews

The fifth meeting of the River Valley Sew and Sews, "Working with Wool," was held on Wednesday evening, November 9th at 7:30 o'clock in the River Valley School.

In the absence of the President, Cheryl Utman, Alice DeBruyn acted as chair lady and the meeting was opened with the 4-H Pledge. The minutes were read by Elsie Martin and the roll call. "One reason why I chose my skirt material, its name and weave," was answered by the seven members present. It was decided to have the next meeting in the River Valley School on Wednesday, November 16th.

The members then worked on skirts, laying out patterns, making alterations and cutting.

The leaders explained why, and how pleats, darts and gathers were made and a thorough explanation of how to make and insert a lining was also given. Pressing was emphasized and the members were urged to read the booklet on "Pressing," prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

DEEP-FREEZE CHRISTMAS ROLLS

The fragrance of bread baking is the fragrance of contentment, of family life, of hospitality. In November, to freer owners, it also means getting a good start on Christmas baking. Sweet dough rolls, baked and frozen now will be wonderful to have on hand for breakfast, brunch, lunch supper or buffet meals during the Christmas season.

Sweet Dough Rolls

- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup butter
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 1 package fast-rising yeast
- 4 1/2 to 5 cups all-purpose flour

2 eggs, beaten

Combine first five ingredients. Cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile dissolve the 1 teaspoon sugar in the 1 cup lukewarm water. Sprinkle yeast over top and let stand 10 minutes. Stir well, then add to lukewarm milk mixture. Measure 2 cups flour into a bowl. Add blended liquids and eggs, combine thoroughly, then beat until smooth. Gradually stir in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Then shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl. Brush surface lightly with melted butter, cover and let rise out of draft at 85 degs. F. until double in bulk — about 1 hour. Punch dough down to remove all gas bubbles, shape into pan buns or fancy rolls and place in lightly greased pan, muffin tins or on baking sheet (depending on type of buns made). Cover and let rise until double in bulk 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Bake pan buns in a moderate oven 350 degs. F. for about 30 minutes. Bake individual buns in a moderately oven 350 degs. F. for about 15 minutes. Makes 1 to 1 1/2 dozen medium buns.

To Freeze

Baked Rolls

Cool to room temperature, wrap carefully in moisture-vapor-resistant freezer wrappings and freeze immediately.

To Thaw

Baked Rolls

Thaw in original wrappings at room temperature or in a slow oven (300 degs. F.). Do not heat waxed or plastic wrappings or bags as they will melt. Thaw only the number of rolls required at one time as they soon become stale. Rolls will thaw at room temperature in 1 to 2 hours; in the oven (300 degs. F.) in 15 to 30 minutes.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

FACING THE WINTER

We've had our first snow in Manitoba and there's frost in the air most of the time. We talk grumpily about another long winter in the offing, but secretly some of us like it.

I can still remember that old feeling of satisfaction, when the house was banked up, the storm windows fitted, the doors weather-stripped and the woodbox full. To be provisioned and snug against the winter wind is to know a real glow of satisfaction. With modern windows, concrete foundations, modern heating and all the rest, some of that joy may be lost. Not all of it, however. Especially this Fall, when there has been such a long stretch of harvest weather, and the bins are full.

I always think of Fall and Winter as times for consolidation, for chinking up the fortress of our lives, for family fun or "togetherness" as they call it these days.

The Canadian nation right now is facing a sort of Economic Winter. We should be chinking up, consolidating our position, acting with restraint and prudence. If we do, we can weather this Economic Winter without much difficulty.

I think we will. I think Canadians are going to demand restraint and prudence from government, labour unions, and business. We know that wage demands are foolish when so many are without jobs; that price increases are fool-hardy when present prices are being resisted; and that government spending can only lead to higher taxes and higher prices.

So let's get the weather stripping on and face this economic winter sensibly. Only in that way can we be ready for the economic spring that's sure to come.

Safe Driving Week Set For December 1st to 7th

Aimed at breaking down public apathy towards the toll of human life on Canada's highways, Safe-Driving Week will be sponsored across Canada by the Canadian Highway Safety Council between December 1st and 7th, inclusive. With active participation by provincial and industrial safety groups, women's organizations, the clergy, police, governments, service clubs and other bodies and individuals, Safe-Driving Week will begin at midnight, November 30th, and end at midnight, December 7th.

There will be a dual target — the apathy of the general public towards the slaughter on the highways, and the apathy of the motorist and pedestrian towards their responsibilities, as individuals, to reducing the accidents, injuries, deaths and economic loss in traffic. The Council reports that, while December has gone down the scale among months showing traffic deaths and injuries, it remains the worst month for highway accidents.

Safe-Driving Week, a campaign to stress the dire need for safe driving and safe walking, will serve to lead-off the national month-long campaign against Holiday Hazards conducted by police forces from coast to coast.

CONSERVATION NEWS

NOTES ON MOUSE CONTROL

As we know, the fox population in Southern Ontario decreased severely during the last two years.

While this might be good news for farm chicken growers, it affects unfavourably grain production, orchard tree growing and forest plantations.

Meadow mice, also called field mice, sometimes damage conifer plantations severely over winter months by girdling the trees at the base. This occurs most often in those plantations that are young and open enough to have some grass and weeds growing between the trees. While Scotch pine seems to be preferred by these mice, they may damage other types of conifers also.

The most economical method of control for meadow mouse damage is to conduct an annual poison bait programme, such as fruit growers do. The most practical treatment for conifer plantations would be the broadcasting of a zinc phosphide-cracked corn mouse bait. This may be done by hand, scattering a handful (gloves must be worn) every 20 feet or so into the thickest ground cover. It may also be done by machine using a whirling disc fertilizer attachment on a light tractor. Not more than ten pounds of bait per acre should be used at the most. Bait may also be dropped in lines between tree rows through the use of a garden seeder. Mouse numbers can be reduced in this way by 80 to 100 percent if baiting is done in good, clear weather. Grassy borders of plantations should be treated also to prevent subsequent migration from surrounding areas into the plantation. Cost may be 1.50 to $2.00 per acre.

The formula and method of preparing the grain bait is as follows: 100 pounds cracked corn; 2 pounds zinc phosphide; 1 quart vegetable oil; 1 ounce methyl green dye.

The dye is not oil soluble but may be mixed with the dry zinc phosphide before adding to the oil. The prepared grain will then turn green in the orchard in contact with moisture from the ground, dew, frost, or rain.

Mix the zinc phosphide with the oil to form a thin paste. Avoid breathing the dust and work outdoors or in an open, airy place. Gloves should be worn. Pour the paste over the grain in a large metal tub and mix the mass very completely so that the grains are evenly coated. Mouse poison will stick more easily to the broken corn surface than to the unbroken surfaces and this is desirable. Avoid breathing the fumes given off while mixing.

The prepared grain may be sacked immediately or left in the mixing container. Since zinc phosphide is poisonous to humans and to all animals, the material should be stored carefully. Do not store the prepared bait in tightly closed buildings where animals or people are present but it must be kept dry. It will keep for several months in a dry place without serious loss of strength. Label all containers "POISON" and use them for no other purpose.

The time approaches now when some measures against mice should be taken. For further information, please contact the Department of Lands and Forests, Tweed or Naplane.

The Good Driver

It is well known that a great many drink-and-drive offenders "get away with it," even when brought into court. Drinking drivers are unique in that normally they are law-abiding citizens, and it is easy for an enterprising defence lawyer to discredit the medical evidence — and sometimes the evidence of witnesses — in the eyes of the court. Jurors are notoriously reluctant to convict for the offence.

The Ontario Safety League quotes the following extracts from a speech by Edson L. Haines, Q.C., of Toronto.

"In the interests of public safety we impose speed limits. Why can't we impose a limit on the amount of alcohol a man may have in his blood and still be permitted to operate an automobile. It is done in many European countries.

"Our present laws are all weighted in favour of the drinking driver. There is no limit on the amount of alcohol he is permitted to consume and drive. True, he must not drive when intoxicated or impaired, but if he is suspected of committing either of these offences, he is entitled to smile in a constable's face as he says: 'No Officer, I won't take a test.' And no matter what driving offence he is charged, or loss of life or injury he has caused, absolutely no comment can be made thereafter in any Court on his refusal to take a test, that would establish just how much he had been drinking. It is not surprising to find large numbers of impaired drivers going free.

"Some of us express concern about the rights of drinking drivers against self-incrimination through being compelled to take a breathalyzer test or lose his driving licence. They should be reminded that we have long had compulsory finger printing and photographing of suspects because adequate law enforcement demands it.

"We must recognize that between the man who takes one or two drinks and the man who drinks to intoxication or impairment, there are a great many whose drinking goes to the extent of making them less cautious and less capable. These are the men who can only be reached by some sensible limit on their blood alcohol. Today these men leave cocktail parties, beverage rooms and bars confident they cannot be touched because the law requires proof beyond a reasonable doubt of a high degree of impairment, while tying the constable's hands in his efforts to prove the offence.

"As a lawyer, I can say that alcohol is a contributing factor to far more accidents than the police can ever establish. Drinking drivers must be taken off the highway and this can only be done by imposing a limit on the amount of alcohol a man may have in his blood and still drive. It must be a simple law to enforce and without moral stigma upon conviction. It should not be difficult to establish a limit where legislators could say to the motorist, 'Beyond this you ought not to drive.'

Campbellford Opposes CNR Plans

A resolution has been forwarded to Canadian National Railways officials by the Campbellford town council saying council is against any move on the part of the railway to reduce or discontinue rail passenger service on the CNR line serving Belleville, Campbellford, Peterborough, Lindsay and Toronto. The council also included a suggestion that the railway improve the service on the line.

In the 1950-59 period the average work week in industry declined in Canada from 42.3 to 40.9 hours, declined in West Germany from 48 to 45.7 hours, increased in Britain from 45.5 to 45.9 hours, and increased in Japan from 47.9 to 50.5 hours.

Pedestrians — don't get that "run down" feeling. Walk with sensible care in traffic for Safe-Driving Week and every week.

Wherever you drive your car, deadly carbon monoxide goes with you. Guard against it, warns the Ontario Safety League.

Isn't it peculiar that middle age always starts a few years earlier for the other fellow?

The Information Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture suggests cooking whole onions in a moderate amount of boiling water and uncovering the pan when the water returns to the boil, to produce a mild flavour.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

POULTRY SCIENTIST COMPARES LITTER WITH CAGES AND SLATTED FLOORS

Since the early 1950's, poultrymen have been taking sides on the relative merits of laying cages, slatted (and wire) floors, and litter for laying hens. But arguments seldom settle anything. Now a scientist at the Western Ontario Agricultural School, Ridgeway, has compared the three. His preliminary conclusions after a year of testing: all three have their merits but the litter floor seems to have the most. Don Luckham started the painstaking work in October, 1959. He began by building one big $1.50-per-square-foot, insulated building. He put slats in one section, cages in another, and litter in another part.

The hens on slatted floors were allowed .9 square feet per bird. The cages were single deck and one bird was put in each 8" cage. The litter section was divided into two parts — one pen has 1 bird per 2 square feet; the other has 1 bird per 1 1/2 square feet. The cost of each system was: $2.50 per bird for slats; $3.55 for birds on litter at 2 square feet; $3.01 for birds on litter at 1.5 square feet; and $7 per bird for laying cages. These figures included all equipment costs plus the building cost of $1.50 per square foot.

"The hens on litter at 2 square feet outperformed all others," observed researcher Luckham. "These birds had six to seven percent lower mortality rate." His feed conversion figures were even more striking.

Items—

4.2 pounds of feed per dozen eggs for hens on litter at 2 square feet per bird.

4.39 pounds of feed per dozen eggs for hens on litter at 1.5 square feet.

6.82 pounds of feed per dozen eggs for birds on slats.

4.02 pounds of feed per dozen eggs for birds in cages.

Other things showed up too. Egg quality during the summer seemed to be poorest in the conventional nests used on litter. This happened in spite of the fact that those eggs were gathered twice a day, not once a day as from the roll-away nests on slats and laying cages. Luckham feels the "eggs didn't cool soon enough" in the conventional nests. The roll-away type of nest had its drawbacks: the wires had to be brushed every day or else a fine dust ring would collect on the newly-laid wet egg, he says.

While it may be too early to make suggestions to poultrymen, the scientist feels some of his ideas might be of immediate use.

Starting birds to lay in roll-away nests is a problem. Luckham found that most birds would use the nests if he put litter in the nests at the beginning of the laying season. This litter was not replaced.

He thinks insulation must be used in buildings with slatted floors and cages; birds under these systems get no heat from manure. Cage costs per bird can be cut (as some farmers have found out) by putting 2 layers in one 10-inch cage and double-decking the cages. A slatted floor-litter combination might be worked out — the feed and water could be placed on the slatted area to collect a large share of the manure and moisture.

The experiments will continue for at least another year. Some problems still have to be ironed out. What, for instance, would happen to a crowded pen if leucosis struck? How good are slatted floor-litter combinations? Repeated tests might answer these. Next year Luckham plans to keep the number of live birds constant by replacing dead birds with live birds. In this way the floor space per bird will remain constant.

CATTLE POISONED BY CARELESSNESS

A surprising number of cattle were poisoned this year with insecticides and herbicides, reports Dr. Howard Neely of the Ontario Veterinary College. Apparently too few people have been reading and heeding the warning labels on the containers.

"We have seen cases... this past year, where barn sprays were being used directly on the livestock. This practice is dangerous," emphasizes the veterinarian. "It can frequently cause death of the cattle and certainly will cause cattle to be sick."

Manufacturer of barn sprays stress that barn spray should be used when there are no cattle in the building or area.

An affected animal usually will slobber, points out Dr. Neely. Its eyes become swollen. Frequently the tongue is out on the side of the mouth. Sometimes there is shivering.

"Some farmers have suspected that there is a choke, particularly if the animals have been fed turnips," he observes. "In one herd our Farm Service reported a loss of 30% of the cattle during a 24-hour period."

Some herbicides are a problem too, says the veterinarian. The spray — sodium arsenate — will kill potato tops. The spray will also kill cattle if they eat the tops or if the wind carries the spray to adjoining pastures and lanes.

"I recall seeing seven big steers lying dead in the barnyard one day as a result of spray drift."

We've got to remember that the sprays were developed and licensed for a purpose. Read the directions carefully before you apply the product.

Dr. Neely feels that custom operators should be cautioned about care with sprays around farms. He feels they should inform the farmers of poison dangers. Manufacturers might also consider making labels bold and legible — not a fine contract-like type.

Timely Tips

You might be surprised that nursing pigs need a ration containing 17% crude protein and the sow usually can't supply this need. Creep feeding is necessary, says Garnet Norrish, O.A.C. swine researcher. In case you're hazy about the protein needs of swine at various ages, keep these levels in mind: 17% protein for creep feed and starters; 15-16% protein from weaning to 110 pounds; 13-14% from 110 pounds to market weight; 15-16% for breeding boars and nursing sows; and 14% protein for dry sows. Winter wheat contains about 11% protein, oats 11%, barley 12% and corn contains about 9% protein.

If wet soils won't allow you to fertilize pastures and fall wheat next spring, you can topdress with urea (46% nitrogen) or ammonium nitrate (33% N) this November, advises Prof. Norm Thomas of the O.A.C. Soils Department. Except on hilly land where there is danger of runoff, you can fertilize up to and even after freeze-up. O.A.C. tests have shown that late fall applications of nitrogen will give just as good a response as early spring fertilizing, says Thomas.

This is the time of year when calf pneumonia shows up. Newly housed calves are especially prone to this disease and the problem seems to be getting more serious every year, says Dr. Howard Neely of the O.V.C. Coughing, going-off feed, and breathing troubles are signs of virus pneumonia. Isolate sick calves, then call your veterinarian. Early treatment can stop the disease from spreading.

Nominations To Be Held Monday

Nominees To Be Named Between 7 and 8 p.m. — Election if Needed, Dec. 5

A nomination meeting for the Village will be held in the Community Hall on Monday night next, November 28th at 7.00 o'clock. Nominations will be received from 7 to 8 when the Reeve, members of Council, School Trustees and Public Utility Commissioners will present their reports. Nominees have twenty-four hours in which to qualify.

It is hoped that there will be a good representation of ratepayers present to hear the reports of their elective representatives and show their interest in the affairs of the Village.

This past year has been a trying one on the members of Council, with the sewerage system and other matters taking much more time than was anticipated. Without exception they have rendered faithful service to the ratepayers.

Whether or not they would be willing to act another year is problematical. No public announcement has been forthcoming from the members as to their intentions.

For the Public School Board there are three retiring members, E. Warren, R. Mallory and Ralph Jeffs. It is understood all three will stand for re-election. H. C. Bird is the retiring member of the Stirling Public Utilities.

Ratepayers should make it a point to be present at Monday's Nomination to ensure Stirling having strong municipal bodies in the coming year.

November Meeting St. Paul's W.M.A.

The theme for the November meeting of St. Paul's United Church Women's Missionary Auxiliary was "Our Needy Brethren." Piano music by Mrs. Stapley was followed by the call to worship: They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. The eighth Psalm was read in unison and John 5:1-17 was read by Mrs. C. Macklin.

Mrs. Packman gave the meditation in which she said "to Jesus the most important thing was the sick men and his need. Jesus disregarded the sabbath rules and healed the sufferer." Let us ask ourselves, "Have I ever said I should like to help but what would my friends think?" God give us such a clear vision of our brother's need that we shall rise to help them.

The question, "Does the Council of Churches assist refugees?" was answered by Mrs. Patterson who said that Inter-Church aid assistance runs into millions yet the number of refugees is ever on the increase.

Mrs. Waite told of some of the problems requiring solution. One man had made a living by selling vegetables from a horse drawn cart. The horse died and unless he was provided with another his income was out off. In another home there was an invalid who must be cared for.

Mrs. J. Hough told that the World Council of Churches gives millions of dollars in money, food and clothing toward the re-settlement of refugees. Mrs. R. Tucker pointed out the tragedy it is for Palestinians to see their homes and fields in possession of the Arabs.

Mrs. E. Eggleton told of Russian refugees who wanted to get to South America. After waiting long months they eventually arrived. Five hundred settled in Brazil and their first finished building was devoted to the setting up of their place of worship.

No one year can bring the refugee problem to an end as the following figures show:

In Hong Kong and Macao there are 1,000,000 refugees; India, 15,000; Austria, 32,000; West Germany, 49,000; Greece, 9,500; Italy, 9,500; France and other European countries, 30,000; Morocco and Tunisia, 230,000; Egypt (Gaza), 230,000; Jordan, 510,000; Lebanon, 100,000; Syria, 90,000.

A committee was named to work with one from the W.A. to plan for a Woman's Service to be held at 11.00 a.m. on Sunday, December 11th.

It was decided to hold the December meeting as a joint meeting, W.M.S. with W.A.

Prayer was offered for the missionaries. The offering was gathered and dedicated.

Mrs. R. Stapley favoured with a solo, "Jesus Will Walk with You." A bale of used clothing, also one of new blankets was packed for overseas.

agers which could be and should be obeyed.

Mildred Morton Valedictorian

Following is the address given by Miss Mildred Morton, Valedictorian, at the Stirling-Rawdon District High School Commencement on Friday night last.

Mr. Good, members of the staff, ladies and gentlemen:

Time is inexorable. This fact is particularly obvious to us tonight. Graduation has always been an event of the future, a distant goal for which we have been striving. Now, on this momentous occasion, we have been presented with a diploma which certifies the achievement of our goal. Our joyful feeling of accomplishment, however, is mingled with pathos when we realize that this is probably the last occasion when we will all be together. The time has come to say farewell.

At such a moment, we should consider the developments of the past five years and determine what Stirling High School has meant to us.

Imagine the process of education to be like the growth and maturation of a tree. When we entered High School, we were like saplings — independent in many ways, but not prepared to endure the severe tests of life. Our roots were still shallow and immature; most of us had not yet realized what we were doing at school or what we hoped to gain by being there; hence, our foundation for future life was shaky.

During the past five years, we have been maturing mentally and physically; Stirling High School has played an important role in our development.

The diploma which we received tonight is concrete evidence of our academic knowledge. This subject matter may be called the trunk of the tree; the main support.

However, if we are to live full and complete lives, we must learn many things not found in text books; these will be the branches of the tree. Extra-curricular activities give us the opportunity to explore our potentialities, develop our talents and acquire such qualities as co-operation, leadership, independence, and responsibility. The opportunities we had during our first years at high school were few, but those which are now available are numerous and worthwhile. The band, the choir, the dramatic productions, the field day, the school library, and the Variety Show — all these have only recently become a part of school life in Stirling. We hope that the future graduates will appreciate their opportunities as much as we have.

Extra-curricular activities should not be thought of as luxuries; they are necessities. The brain-worker may exhaust and overbalance his mind by excess just as the athlete may overstrain his muscles and break his back by attempting feats beyond his physical strength. We should remember, however, that the tree with a few well-developed branches is far superior to the one with numerous stunted appendages. It is much better to do only a little and to do it well.

In any environment, conditions for growth are seldom ideal. One of the best ways to overcome adverse factors is to set a goal and work daily toward its achievement. This helps us to evaluate our opportunities on a long-term basis and provides incentive for work. We have learned that we have derived the most satisfaction from those things for which we had to work; there is nothing really worth having that can be had without work. Sir Walter Scott, one of the most laborious of men, once wrote this in a letter to his son: "No man can be deprived, whether by accident or misfortune, of the fruits of his own studies; and the liberal and extended acquisitions of knowledge which he makes are all for his own use." The value of our formal education will vary directly as the work and effort we put into it.

During the winter months, the growth of the tree ceases, but we, as students, have had every day of every year to use as we saw fit. Yet how often did we find ourselves rushing to complete assignments or wishing that we had realized how little time there was to prepare for an examination? Our high school education has made us aware of the value of each minute. Time is the only currency which is common to all, to be spent, but not to be regained except through the memory and through the material residues of its use.

To those who have influenced so greatly our development we shall ever be grateful.

Our teachers guided and directed us through a difficult period in our lives; they aroused our interest in many academic subjects and tried to train us to think and reason and understand. I can recall several occasions when we frustrated them! They deserve to be rewarded for their tolerance, their patience and their perseverance. It would be impossible to estimate the extent of the influence which they have had on us already and no doubt their influence will continue to be manifested in the years to come.

One of the greatest assets a student can have is parents who are sincerely interested in his education. We thank them for their understanding and for making it possible for us to continue our education.

Parents, teachers, friends, and all things of which we have been a part, have contributed to the formation of certain basic beliefs within each of us. Perhaps these may be called a philosophy of life; they are the roots of the tree; they will act as stabilizers in our lives.

Commencement has given us a chance to reminisce, to perceive the opportunities which we have had and to evaluate ourselves as we are now. The late Dr. Sydney Smith, former President of the University of Toronto, speaking about the waste of human resources, stated: "Life is more than learning, but living without the love of learning is less than life."

At high school we became acutely aware that the sum of things to be known is inexhaustible and that the whole of life is a process of learning. Stirling High School has offered us a firm foundation for future life; we should be leaving it as individuals having the equipment to live successful, stable, useful and responsible lives.

Five months ago, our high school days came to an end. Most of us are now furthering our education in other schools. We anticipate the new and different adventures which will be ours in the future, but whatever we may do and wherever we may be, we will always have with us memories of our years at Stirling High School, of our teachers, our friends and our experiences. For everything, we say "thank you" and to our school we say "farewell."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Pollock, of Warkworth, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Don Knight. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Knight, of Warkworth, visited at the same home.

Mrs. Paul Adams and baby spent a few days last week with Mrs. Walter Wrightman.

The Williams School pupils, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Ronald Parr, held a special evening for parents at the school house. Miss Doris Hoard showed slides of her recent trip to Europe.

Miss Bessie Hollinger R.R. 2, Stirling, is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Putman and children, Caniffon, to dinner on Sunday evening.

W.M.S. Church Service

On Sunday evening Mr. Harvey Putman, Caniffon, gave a very interesting message and showed two movie reels of his recent trip to Africa where he had a part in World Projects and lived daily with the African people.

He gave a vivid description of his amateur photography as the reels unfolded to show schools, churches, village life, food preparation and the Africans themselves in many phases of daily life. He paid tribute to all missionaries who had given time and talents to that dark land. Doctors are needed as one hundred and twenty three thousand people are cared for in a haphazard way by one doctor in the area.

One hundred and eighty-two persons were accepted to go on this special work tour to Africa and Mr. Putman represented Canada. They visited eleven different countries and had a special grandstand seat at Ghana when that country received its independence. Canada with her abundance of everything could assist African students to receive higher education. The cost is $120.00 per year. His closing challenge was based on the words "Go ye and tell all nations" and he urged that dedicated sons and daughters carry the good news to that dark land.

The church was filled to capacity with many guests from outside points who were welcomed by Mrs. John Mulheron and Mrs. Percy MacMullen. Baskets of 'mums were used for decoration and the pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, was in charge of the opening devotional. Mrs. Mac Sharp, piano, and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, organist, furnished the music. Twelve girls under the direction of Mrs. Carleton Potts sang "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring." The guest soloist was Miss Linda Wellman, Springfield, who rendered "Lord God Omnipotent," with Miss Doreen Broadworth as accompanist.

The loose offering will be used to assist with the allocation which is $468.00 this year. The group sang the special W.M.S. theme song which is part of the study "Into all the world together." This hymn is "Lord We Thank Thee for our brothers keeping faith with us and Thee."

The President of the W.M.S. introduced the guest speaker and Mrs. Herbert Smith voiced appreciative thanks to all.

Following the benediction Mr. Putman displayed an interesting array of clothing and African articles.

W.A. Tea
And Bazaar

The W.A. sponsored a very successful afternoon tea and bazaar on Wednesday afternoon. Both the church and hall were decorated with chrysanthemums. Approximately one hundred and thirty ladies were in attendance from all near-by points. Mrs. Garth Joslin officiated at the piano and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher and Mrs. Mac Sharp were receptionists.

The President, Mrs. Carleton Potts, welcomed the guests and the devotional was in charge of Mrs. Ross Jeffs, Mrs. William McAdam and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver.

Mrs. Craig Watson, Wellman's, contributed two piano selections. Mrs. H. Jarrath, Madoc, gave a very interesting address on "Rural Life in India." She was introduced by Mrs. Raymond McConnell.

Mrs. Herbert Smith, convener of the bazaar, voiced appreciative thanks and invited the ladies to the church hall. Rev. W. G. Fletcher pronounced the benediction.

The booths were decorated with green and brown crepe streamers, yellow balloons and evergreens. The long back table held a large display of delectable food which was soon disposed of to eager buyers. The apron booth displayed a large variety in all colours and shapes.

The country story was filled with a variety of sewing, vegetables, eggs, homemade candy, jams, jellies, etc.

Everything was sold and the proceeds of the afternoon amounted to over $150.00.

Later the proverbial cup of tea was served with bite size sandwiches and cookies and the afternoon was a decided success.

West Huntingdon

Mrs. Kenneth Palmer and Edna and Mrs. Melville Reid were Saturday guests of Mrs. George White and Mildred, Stirling.

The evangelistic meeting held in the Presbyterian Church here on Wednesday evening was well attended. Rev. Rooney was chairman and Mr. Smith, of Peterborough, brought the message.

The funeral service for Mrs. Thomas Fleming took place on Thursday at the Grant Funeral Home, Belleville and was largely attended. Interment was in West Huntingdon Cemetery.

A large number from here attended the funeral service for Mrs. Alex Fleming at White Lake United Church on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Campion and family and Mrs. L. Lawrence, of Mar-Mora, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Goldie McIntroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond and girls were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ketcheson, Belleville.

The Food Basket

Consumer Section
CANADA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Variety is the spice of life and with a little ingenuity there is no end to the variety of ways to serve more colorful, more interesting fall vegetables. Here are a few ideas.

Take Cauliflower — instead of merely dishing it with butter — melt the butter — add some chopped pimento or chopped nuts and parsley and pour like a sauce over the vegetable. Or season melted butter and thyme, basil or rosemary — a little does the trick — 1 teaspoon of seasoning for six servings is a fairly good guide for beginners.

Take Turnip — cut into cubes — cook in a small amount of boiling water — drain. Add 1 cup or so of whipping cream or dairy sour cream, sprinkle with nuts and serve at once as a speciality of the house.

Take Onions — 6 medium to serve 6 — cut into 1/2 inch slices. Place in a buttered casserole, add 2 tablespoons of water and sprinkle of salt and pepper. Cover and bake for minutes in a moderate oven (350 degs. F.). Now, remove from the oven, drizzle

COOK PORK THOROUGHLY

Cook pork thoroughly to destroy all harmful organisms which can cause serious illness. Fresh pork roasts should be cooked to the well-done stage, that is, 185 degs. F. on a meat thermometer. If no thermometer is used, make trial cuts close to the bone. Pork that is well done has a grayish white colour with no tinge of pink.

Fresh minced pork used in sausages, pate de foie gras, pies, hor d'oeuvres and so on should always be well cooked before eating.

Smoked and cured pork such as hams, should be cooked to 170 degs. F. on meat thermometer. The interior should be pink, juicy and fork tender.

Newfoundland has the Commonwealth's only legislature where the government sits to the Speaker's left rather than his right, a holdover from the days when the Assembly chamber was heated by a single fireplace to the Speaker's left.

Springbrook Farmers' Union

Mrs. Alex Bush Hostess To River Valley W.M.S.

The November meeting of River Valley W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Alex Bush with a good attendance. The President presided and opened the meeting with a poem. All sang the hymn "We Cannot Think of Them as Dead," followed by the Lord's Prayer.

The usual business was taken care of with three cards being sent and 10 home calls and three hospital calls made. The Literature Secretary stated that forty books had been read during the year. It was moved by Mrs. Kane and seconded by Mrs. Conley that the members of the Baby Band be given small gifts at Christmas.

Mrs. John Kane and Mrs. Roy Bush volunteered to assist Mrs. E. Carr with the December programme to be held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Heasman.

An invitation from Mount Pleasant to attend their Bazaar was accepted. The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. A. Packman.

The programme was handed over to Mrs. Gerald Brooks. The opening hymn was "O God Our Help in Ages Past," followed by prayer by Mrs. Brooks. Mrs. Holland read the Scripture Lesson from Deuteronomy 8: 1-8. Mrs. Jack Bush gave the commentary which was written in memory of those who have fallen for us. The hymn, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee" was sung.

Mrs. Glenn Bush, in a very interesting manner, gave the chapter from the study book, "Home for the Homeless."

In the city of Istanbul, Turkey, there is a place for refugees where there are nearly two thousand. This year, 1960, is Refugee Year. So we can help these people by sending medicine, spiritual help, farm implements, etc. which are being provided by many churches. The goal is to get these refugees to help themselves. We want to help make these waiting people wanted people.

The closing hymn was "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," followed by the benediction, brought this inspiring programme to a close.

Mrs. Holland moved a vote of thanks to the hostess, programme and lunch conveners.

The enraged husband dashed home and in a good loud angry voice said: "Miserable woman I know everything now!"

"Don't brag so," his wife remarked calmly, "when was the Battle of Gettysburg?"

THE DEMANDS

of modern society have been estimated to have increased 20 times since the year 1900. Today most of our occupation is at distances of 13 to 16 inches from our eyes, which, day in and day out, face a tremendous VISUAL workload... not intended by nature, in fact. Should you suspect discomfort at reading or 'on the job', there's a certain way to rid yourself of doubt!

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

BUYING A BOAR THIS FALL?

In an attempt to produce a better quality hog carcass, the Federal Government will initiate on October 3 its new premium on hog carcasses, whereby a premium of $3 will be paid for a Grade A Hog Carcass, and nothing on a Grade B.

One way to improve carcass quality in a long-range program is to buy a top-quality boar. If you are buying this fall, you might keep the following in mind.

Pick a boar that will improve some of the sow's physical weaknesses. Pick a boar from breeding stock with a good Advanced Registry Policy test.

Give preference to boars with a disease-free history.

These guides are something you might keep in mind the next time you look around for a boar. You'll improve your chances of picking a good one, says Garnet Norrish, O.A.C. swine researcher.

What physical weakness should you look for? Garnet suggests paying special attention to "weak bones" in the feet and legs, poor type pigs small, weak pigs at birth, light weaning weights, slow growth, and sows that are poor milkers.

Now let's take a sow herd with a few weaknesses and shop around for a boar. Good test on Advanced Registry. What does that mean? It's a pig testing policy whereby 4 pigs from a litter are fed together to market weight and then slaughtered. Growth, carcass data and feed efficiency information and then make available to you. If you sell or buy pigs, this information will have some more effect on the final price. The best boars to buy are the ones that have had litter mates do exceptionally well on test; litter mates that did well on feed efficiency, maturation rate and carcass score. Anything above .85% is considered a good A.P. score.

"First ask the owner to show you the A.R. report of the pig's litter mates or of the sow," suggests Norrish. Look for average carcass score, age at slaughter, and amount of feed required."

Prices? It varies, of course with A.P. score and disease freedom. "Don't expect to get much for anything under $75," says Norrish.

Another point to keep in mind is age: buy a boar when it is 5-7 months and over 200 pounds. Lighter pigs, such as weaners or 3-month olds may not develop well.

Finally, don't depend on 1 boar to do the complete job of upgrading your herd. Swine researcher Norrish suggests: keep using good testing boars.

"In one case, high testing boars were used continuously. The first generation pigs graded 66% A. In the second generation 69% A; and the third generation graded 81% A. In another case, low scoring boars were used in succession and the percentage of Grade A hogs fell off rapidly."

Timely Tips

If you're feeding all-grass hay or poor quality mixed hay to dairy cows this winter, boost the protein, suggests Professor George Rathby, Head of the O.A.C. Animal Husbandry Department. He says you feed a concentrate of 17 to 19 percent protein on such roughages. If your hay contains legumes and is of good quality, a 16 percent total protein meal mixture should do the job.

Now is the time to do something about moisture problems in your barn, states Hal Wright, O.A.C. engineer. Plan a ventilation system that will provide a flow of 100 cubic feet a minute for every 1,000 pounds of livestock. Damp air damages wood and contributes to respiratory diseases.

When winter ration is shifted partly from hay or grass silage to corn silage, adjust the amount of grain fed, suggests Dr. Stan Young of the O.A.C. Field Husbandry Department. There is about 1 pound of grain corn in every 10 pounds of mature corn silage. You waste money if you feed too much grain.

It's easier to keep a cow clean if she is clipped. Ontario Department of Agriculture livestock specialists suggest you clip the flanks, hind quarters tail head, tail, udder and belly of each cow. Another idea: cut the switch back so that it clears the ground by at least 3 to 4 inches.

CONSERVATION NEWS

THE BALD EAGLE

Reports have recently been received of people shooting the bald eagle simply to see what it looks like at close range, and on the supposition it preys upon fish and poultry thereby causing damage economically. Those who wish to see a bald eagle may find them in any natural history museum. It is suggested that anyone who wishes to see this bird follow the above procedure, since the bald eagle is protected by the provisions of the Game and Fisheries Act.

The bald eagle ranges throughout North America, Eastern Siberia, and is found accidentally in Sweden. In North America, it is found mainly along the Atlantic and Pacific Sea Coasts. Throughout most of its range in central and eastern North America the bald eagle is too thinly distributed to be of any great importance economically. It destroys many fish, but mainly those of the least food value; by far the greater part of these are dead fish, which would only pollute the waters. Domestic poultry is seldom disturbed. The number of game birds and other small birds destroyed is insignificant. Most of the small mammals on which it feeds are more or less injurious to farm crops.

In the northern sections of the range of the bald eagle which includes Southern Ontario, the eggs are laid from late March to late June. Two eggs almost invariably make up a full set; sometimes there is only one, and rarely are there three. However, usually only one eaglet survives to maturity. The eggs are incubated for about 35 days and the young remain in the nest for ten to eleven weeks after hatching. The eggs are ridiculously small for so large a bird, consequently the little eaglet requires a long time to develop. Both parents share in the incubation and care of the young. The bald eagle does not breed until it acquires its full adult plumage, which occurs at about four years of age.

ALBINO DEER

An albino deer was bagged by hunters in the Bancroft area recently by a hunting party in the area of New Carlisle, in Carleton Place, North Hastings County. Albino deer are rare but have been reported on previous occasions from elsewhere in the province.

CANADIAN LYNX

A Canadian Lynx was shot recently in the Township of South Canotony by a deer hunter. The animal was a female weighing almost 30 pounds. Hunters are reminded that the Lynx is protected under the Game and Fisheries Act and cannot be taken legally without permit.

Cooking Comments

In cooking, best results are obtained when eggs and milk are at room temperature, advises the Information Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

When you peel potatoes, you lose valuable minerals and vitamins. Leaving the skins on during cooking prevents loss of these nutrients in the cooking water.

Root vegetables should be stored with tops removed. Otherwise moisture may be drawn from the roots to the leaves.

the leaves.

Pork and beef liver are somewhat less tender than lamb or calf liver but they are delicious when cooked by braising. Lamb and calf liver may be boiled or fried. Scalding is not necessary for any kind of liver. Liver of all animals supplies excellent food nutrients, according to the Information Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

There is no beautifier of the complexion or form or behaviour like the wish to scatter joy, not pain, around us. Gift buying is the order of the day. Near you there must be some one lonely, see to it you visit them. Take along a treat, happiness can never be measured.

Bride and Groom Honoured

On November 12th a shower was held at the River Valley School House in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Curtis (nee Veva Coombes).

Mr. Glen Morrow acted as chairman for the evening and opened the programme with the singing of the Queen. Mrs. Douglas Scea gave a humorous reading and the school pupils sang two appropriate numbers, "The Red River Valley" and "Down in the Valley." A piano solo was rendered by Maria Heasman. The Morrow sisters favoured with two numbers dedicated to the bride and groom.

A minute's silence was observed for Armistice Day and the Morrow sisters favoured with that beautiful number, "Beyond the Sunset." A few piano and violin selections were given by Glen Morrow and Mrs. P. Conley.

The honoured couple were called to the platform and an address was read by Miss Marilyn Conley. They were then presented with a china cabinet and a pair of matching rugs.

After Charlie and Veva voiced their thanks for the gifts a tasty lunch was served.

Pine Grove W.I.

The November meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Mayell with 14 members present.

The President, Mrs. Chas. Ross, opened the meeting with a poem, "Thinking." All joined in singing the Opening Ode, which was followed by the Mary Stewart Collect in unison.

The roll call was answered by "A pleasant gift suggestion suitable for a patient." Correspondence was read which consisted of a thank you note from Mrs. J. L. Good and a thank you letter from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for participating in the canvass from which the amount of $44.85 was received.

The conveners of the Standing Committees reported and Mrs. Fred Campbell read the President's page from the Country Woman's magazine.

There is to be a District Executive meeting November 26th and the District Director is to bring in suggestions for the 60th Anniversary of the District.

A special collection for the Salvation Army for Christmas was received.

Mrs. Farley Lindenfield, Convener of Health, presided over the program. Several members read from the pamphlet, "Answers to your questions on Cancer." Mrs. Chas. Mayell read, "Nocturnal Bed-Wetting by children." Mrs. Lindenfield read, "Too Much Too Soon." Mrs. Harry Coulter read "A New Approach to Asthma" and "A Hormone That Saves Teeth." Mrs. Lindenfield read an article by Dr. Marion Hilliard on "Woman's Three Ages of Fatigue."

Current events were given by Mrs. Harry Coulter. She also gave a few highlights from the workshop, "Eat to
